SCIENTISTS in British Columbia know that Jewish traders were busy on the Pacific coast in the twelfth century. 300 years before Columbus sailed. Those early Jewish-Americans are supposed to have come with Chinese navigators from a Jewish community at Kaffeng, China.

Experts in native dialects in British Columbia say Hebrew words are found in many of the native languages. The Tehlupshian Indians to this day make burnt offerings of food, and fast from sunset one day to sunset the next day, when in trouble.

It need not have been necessary for Chinese navigators to bring traders to America. Jewish peoples have been pioneers in navigation for thousands of years. The Semitic Phoenicians were first to sail through the Straits of Gibraltar, first to go out of sight of land without a compass. Old Carthage, for so long ruler of navigation in the Mediterranean, was a Semitic city.

BUSINESS grows rapidly here. The Bell Telephone Co., is 50 years old. Forty years ago nobody took it seriously. It has assets now of 3,000 million dollars. In 10 years its net annual income has increased from 24 millions to more than 107 millions, a gain of 63 millions a year.

IT'S ably managed, giving good service. Whether, under the circumstances you ought to shed sympathetic tears about the statement that the company needs higher rates, "to keep going," is for you to decide.

YOU live in the days of big things. Tidewater Oil takes in Associated Oil, turned adrift when Standard Oil of California absorbed Pacific Oil. Tidewater is now a $240,000,000 concern, with $150,000,000 of preferred stock paying 6 per cent, 10,000,000 shares of common stock.

In our industry, 1,000,000 is now the white chip; red chips are 100 millions each, blue chips a billion. Our biggest men are interested now only in the blue chips.

STONE MASONS have settled their strike in New York on the basis of $11 a day for themselves, and an increase for their helpers.

Mechanics have had their share of this nation's prosperity. About 100 years ago only one mechanic in the United States, a New England carpenter, was able to earn $1 a day through the year.

THE FOUNDATION of American prosperity rests on good management of the national finances. Therefore

OPERATED LISBON DRUG BUSINESS

Funeral Services Will be Held in Late Home at Lisbon at 2 O'clock Wednesday Afternoon.

Charles E. Hamilton, 57, Columbiana county Republican leader, county auditor for seven years and a lifelong resident of Lisbon, died in the Central Clinic, Salem, at 5:45 o'clock Sunday evening after three weeks' illness. Death was attributed to complication of diseases.

Born in Lisbon.

He was born in Lisbon on the site of the Hamilton drug store, near the court house, West Lincoln way, on December 2, 1868. He was a son of Mathias N. Hamilton, who conducted a general store there for many years.

Mr. Hamilton attended the Lisbon public schools and graduated from the Lisbon high school. He later graduated from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy.

He then returned to Lisbon where he took charge of a drug store established by his father.

He was active in politics early in life. His first public office was treasurer of the Lisbon village school board. He was clerk of the county commissioners from September 1917, to September 1919, succeeding Harry Dickey of East Liverpool. In November 1918, Mr. Hamilton was elected county auditor, assuming office on October 20, 1919. While he was in office the state legislature increased the term of county auditors from two to four years. His second term would have expired in March, 1927.

OHIOAN SLAYS WIFE, WOUNDS VISITOR, THEN KILLS HIMSELF

Tragedy Occurs in West Lafayette Home.

YOUTH MAY DIE

Deputy Marshal and Woman Separated for Six Months.

COSHOCTON, March 15.—Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes were dead here today, and Cecil Carr, 24, was reported dying, as the result of a tragedy at West Lafayette, six miles east of here, late last night.

Hughes, 50, deputy marshal of West Lafayette, shot and killed his wife, Nellie, 38, and pumped two bullets into Carr's back, when, according to county officials, he mistook Carr as an admirer of his wife from whom he had been separated for six months.

Hughes then shot himself through the head.

He and Carr were rushed to a local hospital, where Hughes died early today.

Tragedy of Errors.

It was a tragedy of errors, according to officers.

William E. Culvin, of Pittsburgh, was calling on Miss Edith Hartley, 18, sister of Mrs. Hughes. He had arranged with Carr to come after him in an automobile at 10 o'clock.

When Carr drove up, Hughes, county authorities said, was watching the house from a distance, and became jealous upon seeing Carr enter the house, believing he was calling upon Mrs. Hughes.

Securing a .32 calibre revolver, Hughes went to the house and as Mrs. Hughes came to the door, shot and killed her. Carr made an attempt to escape through the door and received two bullets in his back. Physicians in the hospital here said Carr would die. His home is at Plainfield, O.

Hughes was town marshal for four years, going out of office January 1, last. A week ago he was appointed deputy marshal.

Mrs. Robert Twaddle, 44, is Found Dead In Newell Home

Coroner George A. Arner, of Hancock county, conducted an inquest yesterday over the body of Mrs. Robert Twaddle, 44, who was found dead in bed shortly before midnight Saturday in her home, Fourth and Harrison streets, Newell.

Dr. V. E. McElowney, Newell, said death had been caused by an abscess on the lung. A jury composed of Newell citizens returned a verdict that "death was due to natural causes."

Mrs. Twaddle is survived, in addition to her husband, by three daughters, Mrs. Charles Merical, Williamsport, Pa.; Mrs. Rosenbaucher, Ravenna, and Mildred, at home. Three brothers, Cecil and John Busey, of Newell; Fred M. Busey, Cleveland, and one sister, Mrs. Hungerford, Detroit, Mich., is also living.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

A. C. Hoover, Potter, Found Dead On State Line Hill

Coroner Van Fossan Returns Verdict of "Alcoholism" After Conducting Inquest Over Body of East End Man.

Augustus C. Hoover, 53, pottery worker, 2202 Putnam street, was found dead at 7 o'clock Sunday morning on a hillside near the Ohio-Pennsylvania line by James Quigg, of Dry Run.

Quigg, who was taking a walk, almost stumbled over the body. Believing the man to be asleep, he attempted to arouse him, but upon examination found him dead. He notified the Rippeth funeral home, and attendants there called police headquarters. Patrolman William Lister investigated.

Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, of East Palestine, who conducted an inquest here Sunday afternoon, returned a verdict of "alcoholism."

Hoover, police believe, had been dead four hours when Quigg found his body.

Besides his widow, Hoover, who has been employed as an oddman at the Knowles, Taylor and Knowles pottery, leaves one daughter, Mrs. Bessie Boyer, of Cleveland.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow in the home, in charge of Rev. John Douglass, pastor of the Oakland Free Methodist church. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

TROY, March 15.—Jacob Nesbitt, confessed wife murderer, was arraigned before Mayor Stokes today on a charge of first degree murder and was held to the grand jury without bond.

The arraignment was held in juvenile quarters of the Miami county jail and was attended only by Nesbitt, L. H. Shipman, his attorney, County Prosecutor L. E. Harvey and newspapermen.

SAMUEL YAUN, WAITER, OVERCOME BY FUMES FROM OPEN GAS FIRE

Gerald Chapman Loses His Fight To Escape Noose

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Gerald Chapman, notorious bandit, lost his fight before the supreme court today to escape the noose in Connecticut for the murder of a policeman.

The court refused to review Chapman's sentence. Chapman appealed for a writ of certiorari to compel the Connecticut authorities to turn him over to federal officers to complete his 25-year sentence in Atlanta on a mail robbery charge. This sentence had been commuted by President Coolidge to allow Connecticut to hang the bandit who was convicted and sentenced to hang.

S. A. Miller, Sign Company Partner, Falls From Ladder

S. A. Miller, 25, member of the Baxter-Miller Sign company, sustained minor injuries shortly before 12 o'clock today, when he fell 18 feet while removing a sign from the Stone Brothers haberdashery, Fifth and Market streets.

Miller, who was standing on a ladder when it slipped in the snow, alighted on his right side. He was taken to the City hospital in the Sturgis ambulance and attended by Dr. A. L. Turner. No bones were broken. He was removed to his home 315 Grant street by Dr. Turner after his injuries were dressed.

Restaurant Owner Discovers Man's Condition, and Victim is Resuscitated Five Hours Later.

Samuel Yaun, 45, employed as a waiter at the Mrs. Dallas Tucker restaurant, East Second street, was overcome by fumes from an open gas fire while he slept in his room above the restaurant Sunday afternoon.

Yaun, who is a painter by trade, went to his room at 3 o'clock when he was off duty. Without disturbing he fell asleep, leaving the gas fire burning.

Tucker went to Yaun's room at 11 o'clock last night and found him unconscious. Scenting the gas fumes he called Dr. Albert J. Michaels, who ordered the man's removal to the City hospital.

Yaun was resuscitated at 4 o'clock this morning.

MOTOR TRUCK IS WRECKED ON CROSSING AT SMITH'S FERRY

Frank Pinello, 46, of Pittsburgh, is Killed.

MACHINE STALLS

Anthony Giovenco, 34, Fruit Peddler, is Injured.

Frank Pinello, 46, of 1222 Franklin street, Pittsburgh, is dead, while Anthony Giovenco, 34, fruit peddler, of West Ninth street, is in the City hospital today, as a result of injuries sustained at 8:10 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when Giovenco's motor truck was struck by a westbound Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad passenger train after it stalled on a crossing east of the Smith's Ferry, Pa., station.

Driver's Throat Cut. Pinello, who was internally injured, died in the Sturgis two-deck ambulance while en route to the hospital from the East Liverpool railroad station to which both men were removed aboard the train which wrecked the truck.

Giovenco's throat was cut, his right arm fractured in three places and both shoulders broken. Although his condition is serious, Dr. W. A. Hobbs, attending physician, believes he will recover.

The truck was carried 50 feet down the track by the locomotive, and both of its occupants hurtled from their places.

Relative's Witness Account. Pinello's son, Samuel, 16, and Giovenco's father, Thomas, who were riding in the former's touring car, which was trailing the truck, witnessed the accident. According to young Pinello, Giovenco, who was at the wheel of the truck, did not observe the approaching train until the machine had reached the railroad track.

Giovenco, attempting to reverse or speed up the machine, stalled it on the tracks. The truck was demolished.

The elder Pinello, despite his injuries, was conscious until a few minutes before his death.

The party was en route from Pittsburgh to East Liverpool to spend the week-end with friends when the accident occurred.

Pinello, whose body was removed to Pittsburgh yesterday, leaves a widow, one son and four daughters. Giovenco has a wife and three children.

Douglas Fairbanks In Film, "Don Q," At the American

With the news that Douglas Fairbanks in his latest screen success, "Don Q, Son of Zorro," will be the feature attraction at the American theatre beginning today, comes the added announcement that this famous star has, for the time being, stepped out of his role of the historic character—such as "Robin Hood," or the fantastic—such as "The Thief of Bagdad," and will be seen in his new photoplay as the romantic adventurer.

She Was Skinny, Weak and Nervous

The greatest strength-giver and producer of good healthy flesh in the world is Cod Liver Oil—it's full of vitamins.

But it's nasty stuff—ill-smelling and hard to take, and usually upsets the stomach.

Thank goodness! we don't have to even smell vile nasty Cod Liver Oil any more, for now all druggists are selling McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, sugar-coated, and as easy to take as candy, so that you can get the real Cod Liver Oil in condensed form.

Men and women, weak, thin and nervous, are urged to put on weight and get back their health and strength with these wonderful tablets.

One woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks and that's going fast enough. Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and if they don't put five pounds of flesh on any thin person in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for it.

"But be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine."

winning hearts and plaudits with his inimitable athletic prowess.

This new film, "Don Q, Son of Zorro," is by no means a screen version of the Cervantes classic, "Don Quixote," as some have thought, but has been adapted by Jack Cunningham from the novel, "Don Q's Love Story," by K. and Hesketh Prichard.

Don Q, the son of Zorro, is sent from California to Spain to complete his education. There he wins high favor at the Spanish court, only to be accused of murder. To escape disgrace he pretends suicide and becomes an outlaw. Of course, there is a most romantic love story, and Don Q's quest for the heart and hand of a beautiful senorita eventually meets with success though beset by many tribulations.

Never in all Fairbanks' career, it is said by critics everywhere, did he have a photoplay vehicle that gave him such splendid opportunities for athletic stunts—the type of film portrayal which brought him his earlier successes, and in "Don Q, Son of Zorro," there are feats of nimbleness and daring that are said to be far in excess of anything the redoubtable "Doug" has ever produced.

One of the unusual things in this new Fairbanks release is the exceptional skill shown by the star in manipulating the menacing and snake-like bull-whip. This weapon—for such it really is in the hands of a skillful person—is a very long, very slender and very sinuous lash, fastened to a short butt-like handle, and tapering from an inch or so in thickness to little more than a small cord in its 50 or 60 feet of length. It was used by cattlemen in the early ranch days of Southern California.

Embroidery from Russia is being extensively used on women's spring coats in France and England.

Says He Was Made Over

"Last summer I began to break down," says J. B. Jones, Box 64, Chester, W. Va. "What I could eat didn't seem to furnish any nourishment. I had to be very careful to avoid indigestion, and my sleep was broken and not restful. One doctor said I had stomach ulcers; another declared my liver was torpid. But their prescriptions didn't help any, and I grew worse until I was too miserable to care."

Friend Helped Him

"One day a friend of mine told me about World's Tonic. I thought I'd try it. After I had taken the first dose I passed an ugly tape worm six yards long. No wonder, I thought. From that day on I steadily got better, until now I feel like I had been made over. One after another my troubles cleared up. Today I am as healthy as I ever was, and I owe it all to this wonderful medicine."

Scores of people right in this town have told similar experiences. Many thousands all over this country declare this remarkable medicine to be a wonder worker. Maybe it is just what you need. Get it at Carnahan's, Brannum, Wellsville, and all other reliable druggists.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

MONDAY, MARCH 15, 1926.

Death of Charles E. Hamilton

State and county today join with his widow in mourning the passing of Charles E. Hamilton, of Lisbon, auditor of Columbiana county, who died last night in Salem Clinic hospital after a long illness of complication of diseases.

A man whose ability, both as a public official and business executive, was recognized, he endeared himself to a large coterie of acquaintances by his unassuming disposition. For years he sacrificed his own interests for the advancement of his friends, and did it cheerfully and willingly.

Few men devoted as much of their leisure time to the welfare of their political party as did Mr. Hamilton. A lifelong Republican, he was an indefatigable worker whether he was in the ranks or at the helm. At his death he was chairman of the Columbiana county executive committee and a member of the state central committee. His advice and counsel were in demand in county, state and national campaigns, and he never hesitated when his services were sought.

As county auditor, in which office he was serving his second term, he performed his duties with honor to himself and his constituency. And he brought into the office a business experience that had crowned his private interests with success.

Columbiana county has lost an able public official and the Republican party one of its most zealous supporters in the death of Auditor Hamilton.

Wisdom Instead of Diamonds

Mississippi almost had a "diamond rush." It was rumored recently that diamonds had been found in that state and that there were a lot more still to be found. It might have produced as much excitement as the current Canadian gold rush. But it didn't.

In the first place, the newspapers of the state refused to get excited about the announced discovery. They expressed themselves as capable of great pleasure if the rumor proved to be well-founded, but they saw no reason for a premature boom and waited pleasantly to be shown the diamonds.

Now there is still a great deal of talk of diamonds, although the excitement has blown over. The "discoverer" shows no signs of any further interest in his search. But the talk is mostly philosophical. One speaker is typical of many.

"If it should turn out that there are no diamond mines in Pike county, the people can truly say that they have something 'just as good.' Not only have they plenty to eat, good homes, good churches, but they have what the Bible declares better than much fine gold."

The commodity referred to is wisdom. It is better than gold and diamonds together.

Bees In Swamps

A novel form of bee-culture is carried on in De Soto parish in Louisiana where there are swamps full of honey plants from March to September. Formerly it was considered hopeless to try to raise bees there because the swamps could be penetrated only by boats and there was often danger of floods and overflow. Then the extension department of the state university tackled the problem.

Bee yards are now placed along numerous bayous out in the swamps, set on scaffolds, and cared for by keepers who use boats drawing very little water and capable of entering even the most remote parts of a swamp. There are now about 8,000 hives, and the practice is growing.

Draining swamps to put them under cultivation is often a lengthy and expensive task. Sometimes, too, it is found that their soil is not really suitable for general farming after it has been reclaimed. This bee-culture plan is therefore doubly interesting, increasing the production of honey and utilizing otherwise unproductive areas.

The League Row

The present session of the league of nations council at Geneva is not very edifying. But it is instructive.

Members scrap about admitting new members, and play politics and jockey for position. Bitter rivalries develop. There is more dissension, open and covert, than has appeared at any previous session. The spirit shown is far beneath the spirit of Locarno, which brought new hope to the nations last fall.

From this very bickering and struggling emerges a fact that cannot be overlooked. The nations, big and little, would not be scrapping thus for advantage in the league if it were a mere debating society. When nations contend, they contend for power. They evidently want strategic positions in the league because they see power there.

The future of the league depends on how that power is used, whether for selfish or unselfish purposes.

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of a new, low-bodied, stream-line car painted blue and yellow.

"Another trouble about cranks is that they're invariably self-starters," remarks the Arkansas Gazette, omitting to mention also that they have no brakes.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 15.—Diary of a modern Peppys: Up and to the Hotel des Artistes to breakfast with Verne Porter, Luther Reed and Joe Urban and then roamed about Central Park paths in a meditative mood.

Home and received word a magazine had lost my manuscript and having destroyed my copy I told them in brave heat I would not write another nor shall I. My wife to a matinee with Will Hogg and Irvin Cobb and I to labor.

In the evening to a dinner and John Monk Saunders, the taylor writer, there, and his wife, Rupert Hughes' daughter Avis. Also Earl Carroll and Miss Dorothy Knapp, who is advertised as "the most beautiful girl in the world." All gay and home later than usual to bed.

Oxford College has done well by American literature. Three Rhodes scholars have made a decided imprint in the world of letters lately—Elmer Davis, John Monk Saunders and Christopher Morley. Davis has had four unusually successful novels—two being best sellers—in the past three years. Saunders had the fortune or misfortune to sell the first short story he ever wrote to a high class magazine. He had the usual luck of those who start so auspiciously. For two years he did not sell a thing he wrote. He went back to doorbell-pulling repertorial job on Park Row and kept up his literary efforts for magazines on the side. In a year he was selling everything he wrote, quit his newspaper job and has arrived. I know four distinct cases where writers have leaped over the hurdle with their first magazine story and then came a cropper for many agonizing months. On the other hand there is a writer who has sold everything he ever wrote and his efforts included two plays.

My first magazine sale was to a poultry monthly in Kansas City, about 14 years ago. I was offered my choice—a check for $150 or a year's subscription to the journal. I took the cash, demonstrating sharp business acumen for with two more issues the venture turned its toes to the daisies.

Every Manhattan cliff dweller decides at some time or other to raise chickens on a two or three-acre patch. On paper the incubator system shows bewildering profits. It seems so simple—three dozen eggs and an incubator and there you are, but pip, cholera or something interferes and the chickens raisers come back to their cliffs.

At one of those rare lucid intervals that come my way I became imbued with a business idea in New York that seemed catalytic. With a light heart I hawked it in busy marts. The chief difficulty, it appears, was that it had been successfully done by some five or six hundred before me. I still think it was a good idea.

In all those disillusioning and disappointing days I met with only one discourteous rebuff. He was a man eternally "in conference" who fidgeted with push buttons, telephones and dictation while I sat patiently holding my derby and swallowing my Adam's apple. He was plain nasty in his "inquiry" and I'd like to report dropping a dime in his hat for a set of shoe laces later along a Fifth Avenue curb, but the exigencies of truth forgo that pleasure. He is said to be a $75,000 a year executive today.

Among all the others I interviewed I found unfailing kindness. As I look back is bordered on the sympathetic. They probably thought: "The poor boob actually believes in his rotten idea."

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A Fight or a Frolic.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15.—Washington is engrossed just now in discussing whether 1928 is to be a fight or a frolic for Calvin Coolidge. There are many, and they are not all friends of the president, who predict that he will romp in as a candidate for re-nomination and re-election, and romping in as a winner is generally classed as a frolic.

There are others who contend that any president who undertakes to hold that office more than eight years is letting himself in for the stiffest kind of a fight, and some who adhere to this view are numbered among Coolidge well-wishers. Of course Mr. Coolidge will not have served eight years at the end of his present term, but it is pointed out that if he wins another term he will break all records for longevity in the White House and shatter to smithereens one of the great precedents of American politics.

This discussion was precipitated by the pronouncement of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, upon his return from his extensive hunting trip in Asia, that he was ready for either a fight or a frolic. Being his father's son it is to be assumed that he would greatly prefer a fight. This is indicated further by his supplementary declaration that whatever decision he may reach as to his plans for the immediate future he expects to devote his life to politics and public affairs.

No man of the Roosevelt temperament and heritage can devote a lifetime to politics and public affairs without kicking up more or less of a ruckus once in a while and being a candidate for office.

Accordingly it is assumed that Teddy Jr. is, for all practical purposes, already in the race again for the governorship of New York and that he is potentially a candidate for presidential honors in 1928. If this assumption be correct it is certain that it is a fight rather than a frolic that is in prospect.

The Ovis Poli Enters the Arena.
Col. Roosevelt had a very successful hunting trip, returning with a large bag of specimens for the Field Museum of Chicago. Included in the collection were some 80 large mammals and between 800 and 1,000 small mammals, birds and reptiles. His most notable achievement was bagging a specimen of the ovis poli or Marco Polo sheep, one of the rarest animals known to scientists and hunters, and said to be a distant relative of the Rocky Mountain goat of North America.

This has prompted irreverent and slangy wisecracks to ask, "If Teddy could get Marco Polo's sheep, can he get Cal's goat?" His friends answer with the counter question, "And why not?"

Such ardent admirers of young Roosevelt never weary of pointing out how closely his career has paralleled that of his distinguished father. He has served in the legislature of his state; so did his father. He has served his country in time of war and emerged with a good fighting record and the title of colonel, as did his father. He has been assistant secretary of the navy; so was his father. He has proved himself a mighty hunter and sportsman; as was his father. It remains for him but to be governor, vice president, and president to complete the parallel and his friends are entirely willing to forego the vice presidency. Probably the colonel, is, too.

However, political observers call attention to the fact that Roosevelt made a try at the governorship two years ago and failed to manage it. A canny individual named Al Smith stepped in between him and the coveted prize, and it is by no means certain that that same individual will not be in the gubernatorial lists again this year. Smith has been governor of New York three or four times, and while it is not contended that he has a lease in perpetuity on the job it is recognized that when he wants it he makes it rough going for other aspirants. Smith likewise has his dreams of the presidency in 1928 and he may also regard election as governor in 1923 as a necessary stepping stone.

Then, too, it may be pointed out that before Roosevelt can be governor or must get the Republican nomination there, although as a matter of precedent he is entitled to the nomination if he indicates that he wants it.

By Fontaine Fox

too, it has made him rather a lonely character in the senate, tending to prevent the cementing into strong personal ties his association with the leaders who are powerful forces in his party.

Another interesting phase of current discussion anent 1928 is the choice bit of gossip that President Coolidge has let it be known that if he is not to be the Republican nominee two years hence, Herbert C. Hoover, Secretary of the Department of Commerce, will be the administration candidate.

This recalls the situation in 1908 when party chieftains who did not look with favor upon the candidacy of William Howard Taft were given the alternative by the then President Roosevelt, "You can take Taft, or you can take me."

They took Taft. And in the campaign for the election that year, it is remembered, the Republicans had a frolic rather than a fight.

Only a few more weeks until it is safe to predict a hard winter.—Mansfield Journal.

125 Young Men Hear "Life Value" Address By H. D. Krafft

Harold D. Krafft, of the Standard Life Insurance company, and instructor of insurance, addressed university students at the annual meeting of the Sunday afternoon club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday. His subject was "Life Value."

Approximately 125 young men, between the ages of 16 and 26, attended the meeting. The speaker said:

"The greatest thing that the youth of today need worry about is not early death but old age dependency. Out of an average group of 100 young men, 36 will have died before reaching the age of 65; 54 will be dependent upon relatives, five self-supporting, four well to do and one wealthy. Life value is ability or what we can do with our lives, based upon the principles of industry, ability, earning power and character."

112 PERSONS INDICTED IN RUM RING QUIZ

Uncle Sam Strikes
Blow at Dry Law
Violators.

165 OVERT ACTS

Federal Grand Jury
Counts Hit Persons
in 11 Cities.

CLEVELAND, O., March 15.—Harry Volpe, of Chicago, named in the record indictment returned by a federal grand jury here this afternoon, charging a huge liquor conspiracy, was the first to be arraigned in federal court after the true bill was released.

Volpe entered a plea of guilty and was set at liberty on a $10,000 bond pending sentence.

CLEVELAND, March 15.—The United States government this afternoon struck its heaviest blow in history at violators of the national prohibition act. The blow reverberated from coast to coast.

The federal grand jury after weeks of investigation into the activities of an alleged huge rum syndicate, nationwide in its scope, returned a blanket indictment charging 112 persons in 11 cities from Massachusetts to California, with a vast conspiracy to break the dry law.

"It is an expose of the operations of what we believe to be the biggest rum ring unearthed since the adoption of the Volstead amendment," said United States District Attorney A. E. Bernstein, who had charge of the probe.

The true bill, characterized by District Attorney Bernstein as the largest ever returned in a federal court, covered 103 closely typed pages, contained 26,000 words and alleged 165 overt acts.

Alcohol Sold To Bootleggers.

An amazing story of how through the cooperation of the Superior Industrial Alcohol company, the Prospect Refining and Chemical company and the Central Refining company all of Cleveland, 75 carloads of 5,000 gallons each of pure alcohol, were obtained tax free, under government license, to be denatured for commercial purposes, and how the entire amount was sold to bootleggers to be retailed by them all over the country for drinking purposes, was alleged in the true bill.

The government charged that government officials and employees were bribed or hired outright in the carrying out of the big plot.

The indictment specifically charged millionaires, attorneys, deputy United States internal revenue collectors, railroad special agents and employees, warehousemen, truck drivers, ex-army men, business men and others in Philadelphia, Cleveland, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Boston, San Francisco and San Jose, Cal., with being involved in the conspiracy.

Treasury Agents Get Evidence.

The evidence on which the federal grand jury brought the indictment was gathered over a period of six months by agents of the intelligence unit of the United States treasury department, under the direction of George E. Golding, Atlanta, Ga., assisted by Eugene R. O'Brien, New York, Wilfred Moore and George Foster. This was the first time in history that the intelligence unit of the treasury department was assigned to gather evidence in a liquor law violation case.

Federal agents followed the alcohol trail from coast to coast as it led from distilleries in Louisville, Ky., Peoria, Ill., and Waterloo, Iowa, to Cleveland, and out again to scores of cities, including New York, Buffalo, Omaha and Atlantic City.

Enormous profits were made by the ring leaders, according to the agents, who alleged that the pure alcohol purchased at an average price of 60 cents a gallon was sold to the bootlegger wholesalers at $3 to $4 a gallon. The bootleggers split each gallon into 20 gallons of synthetic gin and sold it at $10 to $25 a gallon.

Ring Receives Millions.

While the indictment charged that only 75 carloads of 5,000 gallons of pure alcohol were diverted and sold

NEARLY 253 ARE REPORTED KILLED OR INJURED IN COSTA RICA WRECK

Excursion Train Derailed
as it Crosses Bridge,
Plunges Down Embankment, Dispatch
Says.

NEW ORLEANS, March 15.—Nearly 200 persons were killed and scores injured, the majority seriously, when three cars of a Costa Rica excursion train became detached while the train was crossing the Larilla river Sunday and plunged down a steep embankment.

Details of the accident were received in New Orleans today by wireless at the offices of the United Fruit company, owner of the railroad.

A special train was rushed to the scene of the accident from Port Limon by the United Fruit company. On board were a special corps of physicians and nurses and medical supplies.

The direct cause of the accident has not been learned. The coaches containing the victims bumped and hurtled down the 50-foot embankment of the Larilla river, a mass of smashed and tangled debris. The known dead number 178 and 75 others are known to be injured. Many of the latter are expected to die. That any of the occupants of the cars escaped death is regarded miraculous. There were about a dozen other coaches in the train, the total number of passengers aboard being about 1,000.

Special investigation by the government of the accident will be ordered, it is said.

Word of the accident was flashed to the New Orleans office of the United Fruit company from San Jose, Costa Rica. It was believed at first 300 persons were killed, and several hundred injured, but a check showed this number to be exaggerated.

All Sunday activities in Costa Rica were ordered suspended by the government as a sign of mourning.

Nesbitt Arraigned

Nesbitt was escorted from his cell to the juvenile quarters by a jail guard. Eyes of all prisoners were turned upon him as he walked steadily down the corridor with eyes staring straight ahead. He spoke a cheery "good morning" to court officials and nodded to the newspaper men.

He sat near his counsel while the affidavit was being read.

Following arraignment Nesbitt attempted to speak to newspaper men, but was forbidden by Shipman. After a short conference the two retired to Nesbitt's cell where they remained for 15 minutes. Shipman refused to make a statement when he left the jail.

Nesbitt To Meet Reporters.

Nesbitt asked reporters to meet him in juvenile quarters at 1 o'clock, Central Standard time, and said he had a statement he wanted to make. Shipman advised strongly against the meeting but Nesbitt insisted. It was considered doubtful, however, whether Nesbitt will make the statement over the advice of counsel.

Shipman advised the court that he would not at this time request a lunacy commission to determine Nesbitt's mental capacity, but told reporters that such a committee would probably be asked for.

Nesbitt seemed to be bearing up well under the strain and appeared in the jail court room neatly attired and freshly shaved.

Sympathy With Slayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drake, parents of Francis Drake Nesbitt, the murdered woman, will likely come to the defense of the man who admitted he murdered their daughter. They continue their insistence that he could never have committed the crime had he been in his right mind.

Sympathy in the town is almost entirely with Nesbitt.

Since his confession that he murdered his wife because she "nagged" him about his earning ability friends and neighbors have come forward with statements that they recall several

AUTO DRIVER GOES TO JAIL

J. O. Kennedy Given
60-day Term as Result
of Crash.

First victim in the Columbiana county campaign against reckless driving is James O. Kennedy, 25, Mulberry street, who was arrested near the Rock camp crossing on the Lincoln highway at 6 o'clock last night after he is alleged to have crashed into an automobile owned and driven by E. A. Birkhimer, 1220 Erie street.

Pleading guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor, when arraigned before Mayor Robert E. Clark, Lisbon, Kennedy was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail.

Birkhimer, accompanied by his family, was traveling south on the Lincoln highway, last evening, when he was met head-on by Kennedy. Birkhimer's car went over one side of the road while Kennedy's machine plunged over the opposite embankment. No one was injured.

Sheriff George Wright was notified of the accident and accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter, went to investigate.

for beverage purposes, Chief Operative Golding asserted he found records showing that during the period of 18 months covered by the probe, the alleged syndicate withdrew $3 carloads of alcohol from the Peoria warehouse, 50 from Waterloo, 75 from Louisville and 20 from the Weldman distillery, a total of 228 carloads of alcohol, or 1,140,000 gallons, for which was paid about $575,000. If this liquor was sold at $3 a gallon to wholesale bootleggers the ring received nearly $4,000,000, according to Golding.

The retail bootleggers eventually sold this liquor after it was diluted for nearly $500,000,000, government agents estimated.

The true bill named 61 persons in Minneapolis and St. Paul, 21 in Cleveland, 15 in Duluth, 10 in Philadelphia and six in Chicago, four in San Francisco and San Jose, three in Pittsburgh and one each in Detroit and Boston.

'Wanderer', Paramount's Super Production, Opens at Ceramic

Largest Motion Picture Ever Constructed and Greatest Number of Persons Ever Used in
One Scene are Features.

The largest motion picture set ever constructed and the greatest number of persons ever used for one scene in an American made motion picture are two of the outstanding features of "The Wanderer," famous Biblical spectacle, which Rouben Mamoulian directed for Paramount, and which opens a four-day run at the Ceramic theatre today.

The scene, which is that of an unnamed Biblical city, was built in the foot hills of Santa Monica, California, and covers many hundred acres of ground. More than 200 carpenters and scores of technical assistants were at work for more than three weeks constructing the hundred massive buildings and walls for the set.

For the scene depicting the destruction of the city by earthquake and fire, thousands of actors were used as well as hundreds of lions, tigers, elephants and camels.

"The Wanderer," according to critics, is the most titanic film effort of the season. More than two years were spent preparing for the production, and four months were required for the actual filming. Many thousands of costumes were prepared, occupying the time of one hundred seamstresses for almost a month. Two crews of men, laboring day and night, worked for weeks constructing the huge interior sets within the studio. A score of jewelry craftsmen were engaged to construct three thousand rings, bracelets and arm bands as were used in the days before Christ.

The cast of "The Wanderer" includes the most distinguished acting talent in the motion picture industry. Among the featured players are listed such names as Ernest Torrence, William Collier, Jr., Wallace Beery, Tyrone Power, Greta Nissen and Kathlyn Williams. Other players in the spectacle include Kathryn Hill, George Rigas, Holmes Herbert, Snitz Edwards, Lionel Brahm, Sojin and Duke Kahanamoku.

every American is indebted to Mr. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, a great business man and financier, who devotes time and energy to the public service, for no reward and very little gratitude. Last year the public debt was reduced more than $700,000,000. This year it will be reduced by about $700,000,000 more. At any rate the great war, our share of it, will soon be paid for.

WHEN you think that women are settling down to sensible fashions, short skirts, and short hair, this comes to you: Madam Lanvin, who ought to know, says that skirts will be short in front, long in the back, hats very big or very small, nothing in between. The dresses will be "very short in front, shorter than ever, and very long in the back."

The Hair Dressers' association say women have decided that bobbed hair isn't beautiful and are going back to long hair, letting their bobs grow, and buying wigs.

There is some wise plan of Providence back of all that you may be sure.

It would be a good thing if all elephants in circuses and elsewhere were spared humiliating tasks now forced upon them, standing on their heads, walking on ninepins, etc. The elephant is too dignified a beast for such humiliation. And children want to see an elephant, not a four-legged, unwieldy clown.

THE FRENCH people do not like taxation. Briand's government tried to keep national accounts straight by levying a sales tax. The proposition was overwhelmingly defeated, the deputies deserted Briand on a vote of confidence and he is out of office. Here, in England, and in Germany, men submit to taxation quite peacefully. Attorney Shipman plans to use these statements in connection with his insanity defense plea.

Shipman, however, today, announced that he was not certain whether he would have charge of the defense or act as associate counsel with a criminal lawyer to be retained. He said the announcement may not be made for several days.

Prosecutor Harvey said that he would demand the death penalty unless future developments changed his plans.

Yesterday was quiet for Nesbitt. He received only two visitors during the day. His attorney was with him for half an hour and Rev. He created the leading baritone roles in many of the Wagnerian operas when first produced in English. Lind has varied his repertoire for vaudeville with such clever vehicles as "The Opera Singer," "A Man of Yesterday," and the "Singing Master" and with his charming wife, Adah Carry Lind, known as "The Lady of the Violin," has become established as one of the standard Keith attractions.

Eccentric comedy will be featured by Kaufman and Kaufman, who offer a radio travesty. They call themselves "The Radio Nuts."

Gertrude Dwyer is a singer of popular songs. It is said that she gets more expression out of a number than most other singers do. At any rate she sings popular numbers, effectively. Raymond Pike, one of the principal fun makers on this bill, is "Versatility Personified."

The photo play, "The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted," is a striking drama of American home life with Huntley Gordon and Irene Rich in the leading roles.

Public telephones are to be installed in railway stations by the British government.

TEACHERS' MEET
IS HELD HEREMore Than 200 Attend
Annual Session in High School.

More than 200 men and women interested in educational work in this county attended the annual meeting of the Columbiana County Teachers' association held in the auditorium of the David Anderson high school Saturday. More interest in this gathering was displayed this year than heretofore, according to County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Leonard.

The attendance at the annual gathering of members of township boards of education was larger than that of a year ago.

G. H. Alderman, dean of education, University of Pittsburgh, with Rev. W. J. Campbell, pastor of Plymouth Congregational church, Youngstown, were the principal speakers at both morning and afternoon sessions.

The departmental sessions, which followed the addresses of these two speakers brought out many new plans which teachers have used in developing the minds of children along particular lines. These discussions had to do with the teaching in all grades, also in certain branches of high school work.

Supt. Leonard was in charge of the meeting of the members of the township boards of education. Mr. Leonard explained the need of boards of education to be in constant personal contact with the schools under their charge, and that it was necessary for all board members to take an active interest in educational work for the betterment of their different communities.

The latter alleged that he had been attacked by Baughman after he left a dance hall from which place the defendant and several companions had been ejected earlier in the evening.

Though Sick Abed

John Smith
Is A Happy Man

"Eaco Protection"
Keeps His COFFIELD Paid For

Mrs. Smith Does Not Have to Neglect
Him for the Family Wash---The
Coffield Does the Wash

"EACO PROTECTION" is given with every COFFIELD, "The World's Best Electric Washer," sold on the COFFIELD'S easy monthly payment plan. When you buy a COFFIELD on payments you don't need to fear the proverbial "rainy day," or save up to be able to continue your payments should it come. "Eaco Protection" will do that for you in the event you are laid up for more than two weeks with sickness or injury by accident, and the payments for these first two weeks are then also included, the protection being retroactive. In the event of death by accident all payments are cancelled entirely, and the heir or heirs are given a receipt in full.

But "Eaco Protection" is not more unparalleled in its way than the COFFIELD itself---the finest and most perfect electric washer in the world.

Coffield
$139<sup>50</sup>
The Wash-day
Miracle

THE experience of Mrs. Smith truly justifies this seemingly extravagant expression. There is any number of Mrs. Smiths who will have cause to praise both the COFFIELD and "EACO PROTECTION."

There is no "wash day" in the parlance of the COFFIELD. It is simply a "wash hour." That's the time you save by letting the COFFIELD do the family wash.

The Goddard Bakery

Home of the popular "Betsy Ross" bread at Virginia avenue, Chester, West Virginia, one of the most widely known concerns not only because they maintain a modern scientifically equipped plant which is under experienced and expert management, but also because the fame of their bread and other products has spread far and wide to every point of the compass and are exceedingly popular here. Of course, everyone knows them and their excellent service in this connection.

When the people who handle important articles of food and the place in which they are handled are as described above, it is safe to wager that what they have to offer their customers is the best that money can buy.

This is the kind of plant operated by the Goddard Bakery, producers of "Betsy Ross" bread, in such great demand in Columbiana county and surrounding community, and the kind that they have been operating since they first opened their doors for business.

This bakery does an extensive business. So great has been the care in the effort to give the people the most wholesome food that their hosts of customers have learned to refuse goods from other establishments, because they have confidence in their products.

Their bread is always crisp and fresh. It supplies strength and energy and is protected by sanitary conditions. Bread is your best food, eat more of it.

In the great experiences of life there are none that which recall more pleasant memories than the days of youth, when the boy or girl gets in mother's bread box just after the bake. Times have changed and many today do not get to experience this joy of life unless they patronize an institution of this kind which is often the nearest approach to the old family bread box in these days of the complexity of civilization.

You cannot buy better bread than "Betsy Ross," not only is it properly made from the proper ingredients which are carefully selected but is thoroughly and properly baked.

Therefore it has that delicious flavor and substance which all good bread should have, but which is quite rare in the modern loaf of today.

It is well to insist on "Betsy Ross" bread. Those who have never tried the products from this bakery are missing one of the accompaniments of the perfect meal as hosts of people are praising the work of this bakery and are demanding their excellent line of pure food products.

Q. From what is the term "rayon" derived? K. L.

A. The term "rayon," as a generic name to be applied to all artificial silks, has recently come into quite general use, having been endorsed by many trade associations, and being applied by different producers to their products. The word is French, one of its meanings being a ray, as of light, and the thought in the minds of certain of those who sponsored it was that, being a term unknown to most of the English speaking public, it would permit of no confusion in its use. It was believed that it could not be mistaken for anything else, and would still be applicable to the product as expressing its outstanding characteristics of lustre.

TWENTY-ONE.

"Thank you for the awfully good game," the woman called cheerily. There was a sort of challenge in them that made him regard her furtively as he mopped his brow. Lord how she could play tennis! That was the kind of a wife to have. He wondered if the good she was with was her husband. He played as badly as he. He sensed her searching glance upon him. It seemed that there was a bond between them. They both had rotten tennis partners and were trying to console with each other. That was what was in their glances. He saw her speak to her companion, and in a moment the latter came toward them. "Would you join us for refreshments?"

"My name is White," he introduced himself to Clay.

"Mine's Wales. . . This is my wife," he indicated.

"I didn't know the prince was married," remarked the man, smiling.

Clay did not smile, but Eve did. The other woman came up too late to hear this. "Miss Johnstone," Mr. White announced. "Mr. and Mrs. Wales—not the prince."

Miss Johnstone did not smile. Her eyes were upon Clay's searchingly. His glance dropped.

Clay Wales was warm and weary, but he also was buoyant. Acres of green dotted with checkered golf players floated about the shady veranda on which he sat with Eve and their new found acquaintances, sipping lemonades. Pretty women in colorful sports clothes were sunning themselves, or listening attentively to bosome men, or smiling at interesting ones. Music and the shuffle of tea-dancers floated out upon the balmy air. . . This was life. If only he could enjoy this all of the time. What was there in store for him in Central City but the warehouse of John Ingate's Sons, Inc.? So much more did Chicago offer. . .

He looked up and found his glance met by that of Miss Johnstone. It was, he thought such a quizzical, challenging expression. Why did she look at him like that? Was she trying to flirt with him? His eyes dropped. White, he noticed, seemed very much interested in what Eve had to say, whatever it was. . .

"Yes," he heard her say, "I agree with you about Arlen. He's Laura Jean Libbey in purple covers." He was puzzled. Who was Arlen? Who was Laura Jean Libbey? What did she mean by that? Clay had never read anything except sport pages since he left school.

He wanted to talk to Miss Johnstone, to have her interested in what he said. But what could he say? He pondered the matter for a moment. Then he spoke without meeting her eyes: "You play tennis awfully well."

"Thank you. The compliment is one I must return. I thought your playing in the last set was stunning."

"But nothing I did compared with your one last shot."

"Oh that was just luck. I nearly fainted when I saw that I had made it. I was so surprised at myself."

There was something irresistible about her eyes. Clay couldn't help meeting them. He didn't remember ever seeing a girl with violet eyes before. He tried to think of something else to say. He remembered noticing some advertisements of a book which told you how to be interesting always in conversation, and amaze those you met with your knowledge. He would have to get that book, he decided.

"Do you play here every day?" she asked.

Eve heard and raised her eyes. Clay realized that his wife was listening when he replied: "Not every day."

"Perhaps we can have other games," said Miss Johnstone. The violet eyes turned softly to meet Mrs. Wales' glance with a smile.

"Yes," Clay answered, indefinitely. Miss Johnstone arose. "I think we'd better ask Mr. and Mrs. Wales to pardon us now Reggie. It's nearly six."

"Yes, yes. You will pardon us please? Enjoyed the game so much."

Clay liked White even less now. There seemed something effeminate about him. What did Miss Johnstone, a bronzed athletic type, see in such a man?

Clay, standing courteously, watched the pair disappear inside the clubhouse.

"Quite striking isn't she?" Eve said softly, with a suggestiveness that was not lost upon her husband.

He shook his head. "Too tall."

But the opinion was not quite convincing to Eve. She smiled at him skeptically. "I've always heard that violet eyes reduced men at a glance."

Clay ignored her point. "Whew, I'm melted. I think I'll take a shower. I guess I can get in. How about you?"

"Yes, I need it. My face is dirty, isn't it?"

"I should say so. And your nose is red."

"Say not so! Say not so! Wouldst break a woman's heart?" She was in a merry mood.

They parted at the stairs inside, going in opposite directions into the basement. Clay ran into Reggie White in the shower-room. "Great after a game, eh what?" said the latter.

"Nothing better."

White had begun his dressing when Clay came out, glistening and dripping. "Coming out tomorrow?"

"I don't know."

"Thought we might have another game. Ripping one today."

Clay got the idea that White's tone and phraseology were affected. "Ripping," huh!

"If we come out, we'll be on the courts," Clay suggested.

"Look you up, righto." White was putting on dinner clothes and dancing pumps. Evidently he kept a wardrobe of apparel in his locker. Clay felt uncomfortable in his own sack suit, none too well pressed.

"I say, have a drink to get the old appetite biting?"

Clay wasn't sure he heard the other man correctly, and regarded him blankly.

"I say, would you join me in a drink, something to stir up the appetite?"

"Mrs. Wales will be waiting me."

"The wife, too?"

"Yes, thanks." Why should White

be so affable? And Miss Johnstone, too? He and Eve were strangers, and plainly not of the other's social station, or least they must look as if they were not.

When he was done with his dressing and feeling rather doubtful and conspicuous, since most of the other men he saw were in dinner clothes, too, they mounted to the lobby. Eve did not appear.

"I'd better not keep you," Clay said. "She no doubt is delayed."

"Well, let's run up and get one before she comes. Then—"

They mounted to the third floor in the elevator and paused before a door. White rapped. "You Reggie?" came a voice.

"And Wales," was the response, made precisely.

The door opened, revealing Miss Johnstone in a long dressing-gown of purple which hung loosely about her. In her hand was a lighted cigarette. "Ready for a cocktail?" White asked.

"Yes," she replied, as if non-committal. Her eyes were upon Clay Wales.

White opened the drawer of a cabinet and brought two bottles. "The deuce! No vermouth. . . Excuse me a moment, please." He disappeared through the outer door, softly whistling to himself, and Clay and the girl with the violet eyes were left alone. (To be continued.)

New Philadelphia Cancels 1926 Grid Contest With High

Call Off Engagement Scheduled For Oct. 2, Second on Local Card

Athletic Director O. V. Boone Awaits Written Confirmation of Action Following Conversation With Rival School Representatives; Severance of Relations for Indefinite Period.

New Philadelphia high school is off East Liverpool's football schedule for an indefinite period.

This was revealed today in an announcement by Athletic Director O. V. Boone, of the local school, that the contest scheduled with New Philpp for October 2, the second on next fall's slate, has been cancelled, verbally, at least.

Boone now is awaiting written confirmation of statements made to him by Faculty Manager Baker, of the rival school.

The Blue and White athletic director recently had occasion to talk personally with representatives of New Philadelphia high school, among them Faculty Manager Baker.

He was told by Baker that the local school would have to get along without New Philpp next fall, inasmuch as athletic authorities of the latter school had decided, he said, to sever relations temporarily, "under present conditions."

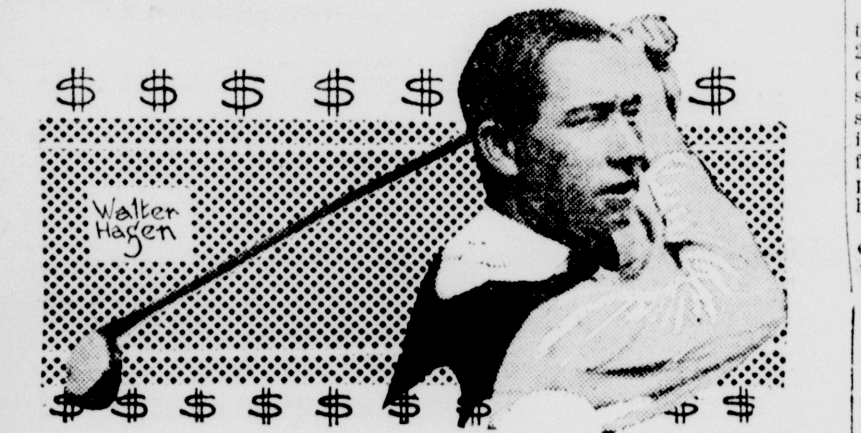

The cancellation deprives East Liverpool's 1925 eleven of an opportunity to even up with New Philadelphia for

Hagen Delays Trip Across Pacific; Demand For His Services Increases

PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13.—His 72-hole match play victory over Bobby Jones, king of the amateurs, having convinced the public more and more that Hagen is a monarch of the golf world, one wonders what the pro wizard will do, now that this, his greatest potential foe, has been conquered.

The victory, I am informed, will make but one change in Hagen's future plans. The trip to Australia and other Pacific points that he had planned for late this summer will be delayed a year or two because of the renewed demands for his appearance on the U. S. golf links.

He will probably go through with the plan to lead a band of selected golf professionals to the British Isles to meet the best team Great Britain can present. And the probabilities are that he will not engage in the British open tourney. He had already considered that matter and made his decision.

Golf is a business with Hagen. Naturally, as he is a pro. But Hagen himself has developed that business angle to the ultimate degree. It is estimated that he made his business pay him, in actual cash, $85,000 last season. This in addition to revenue from real estate holdings of a personal nature.

So it is unlikely that Hagen will engage in any more matches like the Jones one for some time. He can well afford to consider that he has cleared the field and faces no real competition.

LOOK OVER THIS RECORD.

What a record he has!

He has started in five national professional tourneys and won three of them. He went to the finals in the fourth and semi-finals in the fifth.

He faced the task of playing off a tie for five important open championships and won every one of them. One was a national event.

He has never lost a playoff when tied.

He has never been defeated, in his championship days, by a score of worse than 2 to 0.

He has played in 16 major championships—five of them in Europe—and has won four.

He has won the British open champ twice—winning those titles in a space of three years.

SARAZEN HIS HARDEST FOE.

Hagen has been defeated four times in six years, Gene Sarazen, then at the top of his form, beat Walter at the 38th hole in the national professional tourney. Sarazen licked him a second time after Hagen had won the British open, turning back Hagen 2 to 1 in the semi-final of the professional tourney.

Walter was defeated by Jack Hutchison 2 to 1 in the semi-finals of a third pro tourney and by a young golfer named Jolley in the finals, at Leeds, in a tourney preceding the British open one year.

And now he has defeated the best American amateur ranks has ever produced 12 up and 11 to play in 72 holes.

CHICAGO TEAMS CRACK 2,900

Bowlers From 25 Cities Take A. B. C. Alleys Tonight.

TOLEDO, March 15.—Teams from 25 cities will take the alleys tonight in the annual American bowling congress tournament in an effort to bang their several ways into positions which will carry to them choice portions of the $32,000 prize melon.

They will have good scores to best, not only in the five men event, but in the doubles and singles the following day, for last night saw a pair of Chicago teams crack the 2,900 fee in the team event.

North central alleys of the Windy City, a team which held the lead nearly two weeks at the Buffalo classic last year with a score of 2,937, shot 2,964, and is leading the five event men this year.

Right behind this outfit stands Western and Southern Insurance of Chicago, with 2,900. Baker Bygrades of Cleveland did their best work of the night when they combined for 2,898.

Henry Schneiderman, of Indianapolis, and Jack Olson, of Minneapolis, were the big stars of yesterday's matinee.

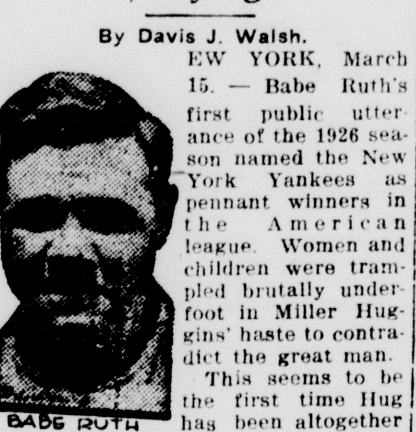

Plans for the Junior basketball tournament contemplated by managers of local teams will be discussed at a meeting of managers and team representatives tonight at 7 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A.

At least seven teams will take part in the tournament, according to present indications.

ATHLETICS CONSIDERED PENNANT PROSPECTS

HUGGINS' YANKS PLACED ON PAN

Ruth Roasted by Critics for "Indifferent" Playing.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Babe Ruth's first public utterance of the 1926 season named the New York Yankees as pennant winners in the American league. Women and children were trampled brutally underfoot in Miller Huggins' haste to contradict the great man.

This seems to be the first time Huggins has been altogether right, according to unofficial timing, since the original four got pyrrhic. Correspondents with the club at St. Petersburg, almost scathing in their arraignment, say the 1926 Yankees are terrible.

Some of the more radical thinkers even go so far as to allege that it is the worst ball club New York has known since the pitiful Yankees of Wolverton and Chance and these were bad beyond all reason. It seems to be the consensus of dispassionate opinion that the Yankees will contest the Red Sox with strenuous enthusiasm for the distinction of finishing last.

Babe's Work Indifferent.

That, at any rate, is the current low-down on the club and it appears to apply in toto, our Mr. Ruth being included. The Babe, in fact, is being roasted to a rich brown turn in some quarters for what is characterized as his "indifference."

During a recent inter-league game with the Braves, they say his casual interest in the proceedings did not include such details as running out infield taps and accepting thrown balls in practice.

That doesn't sound very much like the regenerate Babe who went south, 29 pounds lighter than normal, to reclaim his lost youth. For some reason, Ruth has been unable to hit the size of his neck band, although there isn't the slightest doubt that he is in fine physical condition. In five games played to date, he has made just one hit, a short single.

But his performance has been neither better nor worse than that of the rest of the club. It is said to have become afflicted with a vast apathy, which increased as the Braves proceeded to win by scores of 6 to 1 and 18 to 2. Meantime, the second team has beaten the regular lineup three straight games, the last of which was a one-hit shutout.

Lazzeri Falls Short.

This is all very sad, of course, but the writer feels that many of the mourners are just a bit premature. The club cannot possibly be as bad as they say it is with all its potential hitting backed up by some reasonably adequate pitching, which will come just as soon as the boys get around to it.

However, neither Tony Lazzeri nor Mark Koenig, minor league riots, have been impressive and, since they have been selected as the keystone combination, the entire ball club is left holding the bag. Lazzeri, in particular, has fallen down on his reputation, although it might be well to give this young man a chance before shouting him down.

AVENUE FIVE DEFEATS M. E.'S

Trail Rivals, 20-11, at Half But Stage Strong Finish.

Trailing by a score of 20 to 11 in the first half, Penn Avenue passers came back with a vengeance in their Sunday school league tilt Saturday night with the Methodists and in the second half knotted the score, passed their rivals and finished ahead by a tally of 30 to 25.

Center McKim's seven field goals contributed materially to the cause.

Playing with largely a substitute lineup, St. Stephens dropped a 58 to 29 decision to the United Presbyterians.

TRUTH ABOUT WANER OUT AT LAST; SAYS HE HAS "MAGNIFYING EYES"

PASO ROBLES, Calif., Mar. 15.—The truth about Paul Waner is out at last.

Paul Waner, sensational hitter of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league, sold to the Pittsburgh club of the National league, and in the Pirates' spring training camp here, today revealed the secret of his success.

Waner has magnifying eyes.

When the star pitchers of the National league put whirling balls across the pan this summer, Waner says he will have no trouble hitting them across the lot.

"My eyes magnify and the ball pitched to me seems twice as large as the regulation baseball," is Waner's own statement. "Ever since I can remember things have appeared slightly larger to me than normal and this seems especially true of a whirling or running object. I believe being able to see the ball so plainly is the secret of my success in hitting the balls in the Coast league."

Waner is expected to prove a sensation this season with the world's champions and has looked mighty sweet here in training. He hit .412 last season for San Francisco and by many experts is regarded as a sure thing to make good in the creamy upper crust of baseballdom.

The young coast hitter is known as one of the few players who keeps physically fit at all times.

He has never tasted liquor and declares that the only time in his life he ever smoked was when he puffed away at cigarettes made of corn silk behind a barn on the family homestead at Enid, Okla.

Waner is a colorful player and is looked on as certain to attract wide attention in the East this season.

Mountaineer Diamond Candidates Get Call

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 15.—Plans are being made to have candidates for the West Virginia university varsity baseball squad begin work a week from tomorrow. Inasmuch as the season will not open until later than usual this spring Head Coach Ira Rodgers does not find it necessary to get an early start. Even if it were imperative to have the squad out at the earliest possible moment very little work should be done this week as it will take at least five days to get the diamond in shape and the "Ark" because of poor lighting, is not very satisfactory for indoor sessions. As matters stand the failure to start practice this week will not be any particular hardship on prospective candidates for the Mountaineer nine, the late opening date assuring them of more time than they usually have for preliminary training activity.

Count on Kid Gleason To Boost Team Morale

Joe Hauser, Chief Runner, Will Start Season at First Base, Acquisition of Wambans and Dyke Adds Infield Strength.

By Robert E. Harlow.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 15.—Last season rocketed the young Athletics from the second division shadows into the middle of the limelight.

They made the pace for the American league through a spring and a summer sparkling with heavy-handed swatting victories and stole the race from every rival, except Washington.

They cracked as they turned into the September home stretch but their gorgeous break from the barrier made them famous. This spring, you must discuss pennant-winning prospects when you analyze the A's.

They are the same Athletics that started the 1925 campaign, except for the probability that Joe Hauser, their run-producer-in-chief for 1924, will start the season at first base. He fractured a knee cap in a city series game last year and was out for the season.

Hauser was sent here on February 1 with instructions to take it easy. He didn't. As a rule, Connie Mack has been forced to put a check-rein on Hauser's activities and let Jim Poole do most of the ball playing. However, it is expected that Hauser will be ready for the start of the season. Only Ruth, Goslin and Heilmann drove in more runs than Hauser in 1924.

Gleason in New Role.

Otherwise changes in personnel will be at a minimum. But a powerful addition will make itself felt through Kid Gleason.

Opinion of close observers and the Athletics themselves lay the blame for losing the 1925 pennant in the realm of psychology and Kid Gleason is to be the old psychologist.

The acquisition of Gleason is counted more important than the flock of juvenile talent here. However, newcomers are important in their own right.

One of them is Bill Wambansans, who will be ready to play second base and shortstop at a moment's notice. Jimmy Dykes will play third base exclusively this year, with Hale as his understudy.

The other important newcomer is Joe Pate, southpaw, who, for six years, has been the ace of Fort Worth pitching.

A possible change may be in right field, due to the brilliant showing of Walter French, former Rutgers and West Point football star, near the close of the 1925 season. French is a flash of lightning going down to first base and an ideal lead off man.

Big Four Still on Deck.

That pitching big four of Gray, Harris, Quinn and Rommel, remains untouched, with Grove, Baughgartner, Walters, Pate and Heilmann, all left handed, as reservists.

Lefty Grove is the real unknown quantity. One of the greatest minor league pitchers of all time, he didn't get entirely organized in his first year with the Mackmen. If he delivers this year, up to the promise of his Baltimore career, the Athletics will win the pennant.

Costs More to Build Is Worth More—Yet Sells for Less

If any other manufacturer endeavored to produce a car similar to the Ford according to the high standards of quality in material and workmanship used by the Ford Motor Company and with the same tried and proved design it would be impossible to offer it at any thing like the present low Ford prices.

If, on the other hand, the Ford Motor Company would substitute ordinary design for the basic Ford features, Ford cars could be produced and sold for less than the present Ford prices. Yet by so doing, Ford simplicity, durability and reliability would fall below the standard insisted upon by the Ford Motor Company and established throughout twenty-two years of leadership.

Today, more than ever, the Ford car is the most popular automobile in the world.

It was the superiority of Ford design in 1908 that established Ford leadership. It is this same Ford design, improved but basically unchanged, that is continuing to make the Ford car the outstanding leader among all automobiles.

WHEELER

Nominating Dick Kerr.

Because he steps out of the majors leaving this record above all others: He won two games in a world series while most of his teammates were trying to throw them.

Because, after jumping to the independents, he had sense enough to see the light and win back a place in organized ball.

Because he is going to hurl for San Francisco this season, and try to show the boys back on the "big time" that his wing has still got some winning games in it.

MARKETS LEAD IN TITLE SERIES

COLUMBIANA, March 15.—In a clean, hard fought battle, the Central Market basketball team defeated the Hawkins Aces, 37-33, in the first game of the Columbian city championship series.

The former Miller Bros. team was handicapped by only having five men in uniform and three of these were former substitutes, Price, Howe and Robinson. However, these three played remarkably well considering the fact that they have had very few chances to display their prowess in regular games. Hawkins and Thomas, naturally, did most of the scoring, the former making five baskets and the latter six and also four foul shots. The Central Markets started out like a whirlwind, leading 14-2 at the end of the first quarter, the Hawkins squad seeming lost on the floor without their regular team mates. However, they braced up and held their opponents even in the next two quarters, while during the fourth quarter they made twelve points to the Central Markets' six.

Five Civil Cases Are Filed Today In City Court

Five civil cases were filed in municipal court today.

Laura Pennabaker, 1048 St. Clair avenue, sued Ray Mitchell, Lincoln highway, for $25.17.

Clarence Headley, River road, is defendant in an action for $34, alleged to be due for rent and gas, filed by Mrs. Arthur Beech, 206 Claybourne avenue.

The Smith Brothers Coal company filed a suit for $21.40 against Nelson Esenheuth of Allison street. William S. Foulks in behalf of the American Legion home trustees asked the ejectment of Alfred Scraggs, restaurant proprietor, from a store room in the Legion building, 633 Dresden avenue.

The Keystone Food Specialties filed an action for $114.60 against Edward B. Mullen, former local soft drink establishment owner.

Miss Bennett Will Direct Mt. Union Campaign in City

Under the leadership of Miss Lydia Bennett, local alumni and former students of Mt. Union college, Alliance, are being organized to participate in a nationwide campaign for a $2,000,000 endowment and building fund, which will be launched during the month of April.

One hundred and fifty cities and towns will be organized for the campaign. The $2,000,000 fund will be in the nature of a gift to celebrate the 50th birthday of the college this year. New buildings are to be erected at the college and the endowment fund increased. The enrollment during the last 15 years has increased 300 per cent, which necessitates additional buildings.

M. E. Sextet Wins. M. E. girls' team recently defeated the Glenmore sextet, 18 to 12. M. Connell, Howard and Davidson starred for the winners.

These two teams are slated to meet again in the preliminary to the Powers-Muskingum contest here April 1.

Wooster Checks Up On Lost Fouls

Lack of Accuracy Costs Boles' Five at Least Three Games.

WOOSTER, March 13.—Inability to score from the free throw line cost the Wooster College basketball team dearly in the season just closed. Three of the four games, which were lost by a total of six points, were lost because Wooster players could not throw foul goals as accurately as did the opposition.

In these four games Wooster attempted 49 free throws and made 24. Wooster's opponents made good 29 out of 42.

For the season, including all the Ohio Conference games and those played with B. A. A. teams, Wooster made 220 field goals while opponents got 197. Blough, sophomore forward led the scoring with 70 field goals and 31 free throws. Captain Pfeiffer scored 55 field and 23 free throws. Strangely, both Wooster and the opposition attempted the same number of free throws, 155. Wooster fell down slightly by making 75 to 80 for the opponents.

Wooster's 1925 basketball season resulted in victories over Denison, Case, Ohio Northern, Heidelberg, Reserve, Baldwin Wallace and Wittenberg. Games were lost to Denison, Ohio Wesleyan, Otterbein, Oberlin, Case and two to Mount Union.

This was Wooster's eleventh basketball season under Coach L. C. Boles. In that time Wooster has won 53 and lost 74 games.

New Line Planned.

WASHINGTON—Consular advice to the department indicate that the Canadian Pacific Line is planning a new steamship service with vessels of the "Princess" type, between New York and the Bahama Islands and Bimini, off the Florida coast.

Night airplane freight transportation between London and Paris is being tested.

Shubert's 'Student Prince' Last Word In Grandeur

Male Chorus of 60 Carried by Company Which Comes to Ceramic Theatre.

The Messrs. Shubert, who are sending "The Student Prince" to the Ceramic for an early engagement announce that this is the latest word in grandeur, magnificence, melody, charm, romance and beauty. The story of "The Student Prince" was first used in dramatic form by Richard Mansfield who played it as "Old Heidelberg" at the Lyric theatre, New York, in 1903. Following the great success of "Blossom Time" Miss Donnelly turned her hand to "The Student Prince" and when the lyrics were finished, Messrs. Shubert commissioned Sigmund Romberg, who wrote the melodies for "Blossom Time" to write the music for "The Student Prince." It is said that Romberg wrote 41 musical numbers before J.

J. Shubert accepted the play and cost it for rehearsal. Three years intervened between the time Miss Donnelly began her work and the first public presentation of "The Student Prince" at the Jolson theatre, New York, where the original company is now well along in its second season. At the Ambassador theatre. Four permanently located companies are now playing "The Student Prince," the first is in New York, the second in Chicago, the third and fourth are in Boston and Los Angeles. There is one company "playing the cities of the Pacific Coast, one in the south and the third touring company will be seen here. There is nothing to choose between any of them, the Shuberts say. Each is cast mounted and equipped as well as the other, each is the equal of the New York production in quality and size of cast, chorus and scenic investiture. There is a cast of 108, which includes a student male chorus of 60.

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils. While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary. In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it. Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

COUNTY AUDITOR CHARLES E. HAMILTON DIES

Today

First Jewish Americans.
Really Big Business.
Thank Mr. Mellon.

SCIENTISTS in British Columbia know that Jewish traders were busy on the Pacific coast in the twelfth century. 300 years before Columbus sailed. Those early Jewish-Americans are supposed to have come with Chinese navigators from a Jewish community at Kaitung, China.

Experts in native dialects in British Columbia say Hebrew words are found in many of the native languages. The Tehnapean Indians to this day make burnt offerings of food, and fast from sunset one day to sunset the next day, when in trouble.

It need not have been necessary for Chinese navigators to bring traders to America. Jewish peoples have been pioneers in navigation for thousands of years. The Semitic Phoenicians were first to sail through the Straits of Gibraltar, first to go out of sight of land without a compass. Old Carthage, for so long ruler of navigation in the Mediterranean, was a Semitic city.

BUSINESS grows rapidly here. The Bell Telephone Co. is 50 years old. Forty years ago nobody took it seriously. It has assets now of 3,000 million dollars. In 10 years its net annual income has increased from 34 millions to more than 107 millions, a gain of 62 millions a year.

IT'S ably managed, giving good service. Whether, under the circumstances you ought to shed sympathetic tears about the statement that the company needs higher rates, "to keep going," is for you to decide.

YOU live in the days of big things. Tidewater Oil takes in Associated Oil, turned adrift when Standard Oil of California absorbed Pacific Oil. Tidewater is now a $240,000,000 concern, with $150,000,000 of preferred stock, paying 6 per cent, 10,000,000 shares of common stock.

In our industry, 1,000,000 is now the white chip; red chips are 100 millions each, blue chips a billion. Our biggest men are interested now only in the blue chips.

STONE MASONS have settled their strike in New York on the basis of $14 a day for themselves, and an increase for their helpers.

Mechanics have had their share of this nation's prosperity. About 100 years ago only one mechanic in the United States, a New England carpenter, was able to earn $1 a day through the year.

THE FOUNDATION of American prosperity rests on good management of the national finances. Therefore

REPUBLICAN CHIEFTAIN, 57, SUCCUMBS IN SALEM CLINIC SUNDAY NIGHT

DEATH CLAIMS PARTY LEADER

C. E. Hamilton.

ELMER WALKER FILLS COUNTY AUDITOR PLACE

Chief Deputy Named at Meeting of Commissioners.

ASSUMES DUTIES

Appointment Made to Prevent Tie-up in Business.

Elmer E. Walker, of Damascus, who has been chief deputy in the office for more than six years, today was appointed county auditor, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles E. Hamilton, of Lisbon.

Walker, who was not an applicant for the place, was named by the county commissioners at their session during the forenoon. Question of filling the vacancy was the first order of business, inasmuch as the death of Auditor Hamilton meant a complete tie-up in the office affairs.

The appointee was named chief deputy when Mr. Hamilton assumed his office on October 29, 1919. He is a Republican, and has been active in the party's councils.

No announcement as to the appointment of a chief deputy was made by Auditor Walker.

OPERATED LISBON DRUG BUSINESS

Funeral Services Will be Held in Late Home at Lisbon at 2 O'clock Wednesday Afternoon.

Charles E. Hamilton, 57, Columbiana county Republican leader, county auditor for seven years and a lifelong resident of Lisbon, died in the Central Clinic, Salem, at 5:45 o'clock Sunday evening after three weeks' illness. Death was attributed to complication of diseases.

Born in Lisbon. He was born in Lisbon on the site of the Hamilton drug store, near the court house, West Lincoln way, on December 2, 1868. He was a son of Mathias N. Hamilton, who conducted a general store there for many years.

Mr. Hamilton attended the Lisbon public schools and graduated from the Lisbon high school. He later graduated from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. He then returned to Lisbon where he took charge of a drug store established by his father.

He was active in politics early in life. His first public office was treasurer of the Lisbon village school board. He was clerk of the county commissioners from September 1917, to September 1919, succeeding Harry Dickey of East Liverpool. In November 1918, Mr. Hamilton was elected county auditor, assuming office on October 29, 1919. While he was in office the state legislature increased the term of county auditors from two to four years. His second term would have expired in March, 1927.

Mr. Hamilton was chairman of the Republican county executive committee, and two years ago was elected state central committee man.

Member of Masonic Lodge.

He was a member of New Lisbon Lodge No. 65, A. F. & A. M. and the Lisbon Masonic chapter, the council and commandery at Salem and the Shrine lodge of Cleveland. He was also a member of the Salem Elks and the Trinity Episcopal church of Salem.

Besides his widow, Ada, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Era Brewster, of Wellsville, he is survived by three brothers, William L. and Randall Hamilton, of Lisbon and Rev. John M. Hamilton, of Lisbon.

Newell Man Held For Grand Jury on Dry Law Charge

Stonewall Bowden, Newell, was arrested yesterday afternoon charged with violating the liquor laws. He was arraigned before Justice John A. Mylar and held under $500 bond to await the action of the Hancock county jail. He was committed to the Chester jail.

OHIOAN SLAYS WIFE, WOUNDS VISITOR, THEN KILLS HIMSELF

Tragedy Occurs in West Lafayette Home.

YOUTH MAY DIE Deputy Marshal and Woman Separated for Six Months.

COSHOCKTON, March 15.—Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes were dead here today, and Cecil Carr, 24, was reported dying, as the result of a tragedy at West Lafayette, six miles east of here, late last night.

Hughes, 50, deputy marshal of West Lafayette, shot and killed his wife, Nellie, 38, and pumped two bullets into Carr's back, when, according to county officials, he mistook Carr as an admirer of his wife from whom he had been separated for six months.

Hughes then shot himself through the head. He and Carr were rushed to a local hospital, where Hughes died early today.

Tragedy of Errors. It was a tragedy of errors, according to officers.

William E. Culvin, of Pittsburgh, was calling on Miss Edith Hartley, 18, sister of Mrs. Hughes. He had arranged with Carr to come after him in an automobile at 10 o'clock.

When Carr drove up, Hughes, county authorities said, was watching the house from a distance, and became jealous upon seeing Carr enter the house, believing he was calling upon Mrs. Hughes.

Securing a .32 calibre revolver, Hughes went to the house and as Mrs. Hughes came to the door, shot and killed her. Carr made an attempt to escape through the door and received two bullets in his back. Physicians in the hospital here said Carr would die. His home is at Plainfield, O.

Hughes was town marshal for four years, going out of office January 1, last. A week ago he was appointed deputy marshal.

Mrs. Robert Twaddle, 44, is Found Dead in Newell Home

Coroner George A. Arner, of Hancock county, conducted an inquest yesterday over the body of Mrs. Robert Twaddle, 44, who was found dead in bed shortly before midnight Saturday in her home, Fourth and Harrison streets, Newell.

Dr. V. E. McDowdnew, Newell, said death had been caused by an abscess on the lung. A jury composed of Newell citizens returned a verdict that "death was due to natural causes."

Mrs. Twaddle is survived, in addition to her husband, by three daughters, Mrs. Charles Merical, Williamsport, Pa.; Mrs. Rosenbaucher, Ravenna, and Mildred, at home. Three brothers, Cecil and John Bussey, of Newell; Fred M. Bussey, Cleveland, and one sister, Mrs. Hungerford, Detroit, Mich., is also living.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

A. C. Hoover, Potter, Found Dead On State Line Hill

Coroner Van Fossan Returns Verdict of "Alcoholism" After Conducting Inquest Over Body of East End Man.

Augustus C. Hoover, 52, pottery worker, 2202 Putnam street, was found dead at 7 o'clock Sunday morning on a hillside near the Ohio-Pennsylvania line by James Quigg, of Dry Run.

Quigg, who was taking a walk, almost stumbled over the body. Believing the man to be asleep, he attempted to arouse him, but upon examination found him dead. He notified the Rippeth funeral home, and attendants there called police headquarters. Patrolman William Lister investigated.

Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, of East Palestine, who conducted an inquest here Sunday afternoon, returned a verdict of "alcoholism."

Hoover, police believe, had been dead four hours when Quigg found his body.

Besides his widow, Hoover, who has been employed as an oddman at the Knowles, Taylor and Knowles pottery, leaves one daughter, Mrs. Bessie Boyer, of Cleveland.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow in the home, in charge of Rev. John Douglass, pastor of the Oakland Free Methodist church. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Nesbitt sat rigid, but attentive, as Prosecutor L. E. Harvey and news-charging him with murdering his wife on the morning of Friday, February 19, by striking her over the head with a stick of wood.

When the reading of the indictment was concluded Attorney Shipman arose and announced he would not enter a plea at this time, but would submit to his client being held without bail until a grand jury convenes.

At the same time Prosecutor Harvey said he had not yet decided whether to reconvene the old jury or wait for the new body to assemble in May.

The jail court scene was pathetic in its simplicity.

Samuel Yaun, Waiter, Overcome By Fumes From Open Gas Fire

Gerald Chapman Loses His Fight To Escape Noose

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Gerald Chapman, notorious bandit, lost his fight before the supreme court today to escape the noose in Connecticut for the murder of a policeman.

The court refused to review Chapman's sentence.

Chapman appealed for a writ of certiorari to compel the Connecticut authorities to turn him over to federal officers to complete his 25-year sentence in Atlanta on a mail robbery charge. This sentence had been committed by President Coolidge to allow Connecticut to hang the bandit who was convicted and sentenced to hang.

S. A. Miller, Sign Company Partner, Falls From Ladder

S. A. Miller, 25, member of the Baxter-Miller Sign company, sustained minor injuries shortly before 12 o'clock today, when he fell 18 feet while removing a sign from the Stone Brothers haberdashery, Fifth and Market streets.

Miller, who was standing on a ladder when it slipped in the snow, alighted on his right side. He was taken to the City hospital in the Sturgis ambulance and attended by Dr. A. L. Turner. No bones were broken.

He was removed to his home, 315 Grant street by Dr. Turner after his injuries were dressed.

MOTOR TRUCK IS WRECKED ON CROSSING AT SMITH'S FERRY

Frank Pinello, 46, of Pittsburgh, is Killed.

MACHINE STALLS

Anthony Giovenco, 34, Fruit Peddler, is Injured.

Frank Pinello, 46, of 1222 Franklin street, Pittsburgh, is dead, while Anthony Giovenco, 34, fruit peddler, of West Ninth street, is in the City hospital today, as a result of injuries sustained at 3:10 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when Giovenco's motor truck was struck by a westbound Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad passenger train after it stalled on a crossing east of the Smith's Ferry, Pa., station.

Driver's Throat Cut. Pinello, who was internally injured, died in the Sturgis two-deck ambulance while en route to the hospital from the East Liverpool railroad station to which both men were removed aboard the train which wrecked the truck.

Giovenco's throat was cut, his right arm fractured in three places and both shoulders broken. Although his condition is serious, Dr. W. A. Hobbs, attending physician, believes he will recover.

The truck was carried 50 feet down the track by the locomotive, and both of its occupants hurtled from their places.

Relatives Witness Accident. Pinello's son, Samuel, 16, and Giovenco's father, Thomas, who were riding in the former's touring car, which was trailing the truck, witnessed the accident. According to young Pinello, Giovenco, who was at the wheel of the truck, did not observe the approaching train until the machine had reached the railroad track.

Giovenco, attempting to reverse or speed up the machine, stalled it on the tracks. The truck was demolished.

The elder Pinello, despite his injuries, was conscious until a few minutes before his death.

The party was en route from Pittsburgh to East Liverpool to spend the week-end with friends when the accident occurred.

Pinello, whose body was removed to Pittsburgh yesterday, leaves a widow, one son and four daughters. Giovenco has a wife and three children.

Father, Son Face Charges Following Quarrel With Constable A. W. Oyster

Officer Unconscious for Several Hours After Being Struck on Head by Youth; Duet to Get Hearing Tonight Before Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Ben Travers, 60, colored, and his son, Granville Travers, 21, will face Mayor W. L. Fogo tonight in police court on charges, respectively, of assault and battery and assault and battery with intent to kill, as a result of a fight Sunday morning which is said to have occurred in the yard of Travers' home, during which Constable A. W. Oyster, according to the complaint, was struck in the head by young Travers.

Oyster, it is said, was unconscious for several hours after the blow. He was unable to report for duties as merchants' policeman last night and probably will be idle for several days.

Travers, according to Oyster, had started a fire in a galvanizing tub in Travers' garage. The flames, the officer said, were shooting several feet in the air and were endangering the garage.

Going over to the garage, Oyster asserts he waited for several minutes until Travers appeared. He warned Travers about the fire hazard, and the latter, it is said, told Oyster, "You've been butting into my affairs too much." According to Oyster, Travers also threatened violence.

The constable then placed the man under arrest and, it is reported, the fight started.

At this juncture Travers' son, police say, jumped into the quarrel with a weapon, the nature of which has not been determined, and struck Oyster across the side of his head.

A man by the name of Carter picked Oyster up and carried him home. Several stitches were necessary to close the wound in his head. He was attended by Dr. A. C. Hoffmeister.

QUARTET JAILED FOLLOWING FIGHT

Somewhat in the style of Shakespeare's Hamlet, Mayor W. L. Fogo soliloquizes today on a little problem which, he says, has become almost a regular week-end occurrence.

"To move the boiler shoe to the city hall or the city hall to the boiler shoe," is the theme of his particular soliloquy.

It all develops, asserts the mayor, as a result of the frequent visits of employees of a local shop to the city hall following Saturday and Sunday parties by police.

Last Saturday night officers rounded up Alvie Wilson, Dick Malone and George McCune, all boiler shop workers, and Delbert Lamp, a former employee, following it, is said, a fight at the Malone residence in First street.

Charges of disorderly conduct were filed against the quartet, with the exception of Malone who, at a hearing before Mayor Fogo last night, asserted that the only part he played in the affair was that of the innocent bystander. He declared that, after being down town shopping, he went home to find his parlor furniture wrecked and McCune, Wilson and Lamp in a general free-for-all with son's face was badly cut up during the fracas.

McCune and Wilson, arranging to pay their fines, were released, along with Malone, last night, with the mayor's admonition to report for work today.

The mayor casually informed the trio, upon departing, that the city had entered into a contract with the Canton workhouse.

AUTO CRASHES INTO TROLLEY

Driver and Companion Escape With Cuts and Bruises.

Sam and Pete Viola, Italians, said to be brothers, miraculously escaped with little more than seven cuts and bruises when a truck, owned by James Viola, a third brother, and driven by Sam, crashed into an eastbound interurban street car Saturday evening at 6:15 at the east end of the bridge over Little Yellow creek.

The truck was reduced to a mass of wreckage and the front end of the street car was damaged to a small extent.

The Violas were enroute to Third street when the accident occurred. As they drove onto the bridge, the right front wheel of the truck, it is believed, struck the side of the bridge and the machine was thrown over in front of the approaching interurban.

Pete Viola received a severe cut on his neck and cuts over his body. Sam was lacerated above his right eye, his hand was cut and he sustained a deep cut also in his right leg.

Their wounds were dressed by Dr. A. C. Hoffmeister after they had been taken to their homes.

LOCAL PASSERS WIN TWO GAMES

Wellsville high school basketball teams finished their season here Saturday night with victories over teams from Louisville and Sallenville high schools.

In the principal clash of the double bill, Coach Kilnick's passers triumphed the Louisville quint by a score of 52 to 21.

The preliminary engagement resulted in a 47 to 18 triumph for the Orange and Black girls.

Both contests were decisive, the Wellsville teams outplaying the visitors all the way.

SOLONS MAY HEAR BASEBALL AGAIN

Possibility of another Sunday baseball discussion at council meeting tomorrow night is indicated by reports that backers of the sport here will appear again before solons at their semi-monthly session.

Petitions presented two weeks ago by D. W. Lewis, who proposed the inauguration of Sunday sport and G. D. Ingram, representing opponents, were ignored by solons who, at the advice of City Solicitor Lucecock, referred the principals to state statutes.

STRAW VOTE HIT BY BIBLE CLASS

By a unanimous vote at their regular meeting yesterday morning, members of the Wesleyan Bible class of the First Methodist Episcopal church went on record as opposed to straw votes on prohibition and approved the editorial attitude of the Review-Tribune.

Seventy-five members of the class, practically a complete attendance, cast votes.

Judge Sentenced a Victim

People Who Know About the Case Think Slayer Should Have Gone to Insane Asylum.

KILLED INVALID WIFE

Many people think justice miscarried when recently a judge sent a convicted wife slayer to the pen for life. It looked like a common case of a killing ending a career of two people who couldn't get along, but those who knew the man have said that he has been for years a weakling, both physically and mentally.

It really is astonishing, when you come to look over the situation, to find how many people are emotionally off the balance, how the least thing irritates them and how they are seeing imaginary enemies in everybody. Nine-tenths of this is because the glands that regulate the body are clear out of balance, and most of these cases trace right back to the glands that give virility and vigor to men and magnetism and strength to women. When they begin to weaken, the whole gland system is upset. That in turn affects the body and the mind. Any doctor will tell you many people go insane because their glands fail to function right.

Whenever you begin to realize your glands are not as strong as they used to be, whenever you fail to experience the full joy of life, and lack vigor and vitality that once were yours, look out! There is just one thing to do—hotfoot it to your druggist and ask him for an package of that wonderful new discovery known as the "World's Best Treatment." He will tell you a full three months' treatment for $5.00 and you will never regret the purchase. Get it now at Carnahan's drug store or at Brannan's at Wellsville.

A Lightning Streak

Is no faster than the movement in this greatest of all Fairbanks pictures that marks his return to a super-melodramatic role.

High Speed Adventure

Cuts through plot, counterplot, mystery and intrigue, as the lash of Don Q's whip cuts his enemies down and saves his followers.

At the recent meeting of the Hancock County Farm Bureau proposal to unite with the state bureau was discussed but no definite action was taken on the matter.

The following permanent officers were elected: President, William L. McDonald; vice president, John Mayhew; secretary, Thomas Winesinger; treasurer, Jesse Fink.

Committee composed of C. G. Dagan and by-laws which will be submitted at the next meeting to be held Thursday afternoon, April 1, in the court house at New Cumberland.

STOCK SHIPMENTS SHOW INCREASE

The West Virginia Cooperative Shippers' association, which has branches in most of the West Virginia live stock counties, during 1925 set a splendid example of co-operative effort for West Virginia farmers as a whole, as shown by comparison with figures of the preceding year.

In 1924, 1,874 farmers shipped their live stock co-operatively, while in 1925 there were 2,618 co-operators, a gain of 744. In 1925 5,201 head of cattle, 18,035 lambs and 660 calves were shipped, as compared with 5,819 cattle, 15,062 lambs and 1,123 calves shipped co-operatively last year. In 1925, the gross business totaled $501,000, an increase of $39,935 over the total figure for the preceding year.

PLAN REVIVAL CAMPAIGN HERE

Big Houses Predicted.

Two large houses are anticipated at the home talent production of "Deacon Dubbs," which will be given Tuesday and Wednesday nights in the Aaron building under the auspices of Clark lodge No. 447, I. O. O. F.

Douglas Fairbanks In Film, "Don Q," At the American

With the news that Douglas Fairbanks in his latest screen success, "Don Q, Son of Zorro," will be the feature attraction at the American theatre beginning today, comes the added announcement that this famous star has, for the time being, stepped out of his role of the historic character—such as "Robin Hood," or the fantastic—such as "The Thief of Bagdad," and will be seen in his new photoplay as the romantic adventurer,

She Was Skinny, Weak and Nervous

The greatest strength-giver and producer of good healthy flesh in the world is Cod Liver Oil—it's full of vitamins.

But it's nasty stuff—ill-smelling and hard to take, and usually upsets the stomach.

Thank goodness! we don't have to even smell vile nasty Cod Liver Oil any more, for now all druggists are selling McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, sugar-coated, and as easy to take as candy, so that you can get the real Cod Liver Oil in condensed form.

Men and women, weak, thin and nervous, are urged to put on weight and get back their health and strength with these wonderful tablets.

One woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks and that's going fast enough.

Only 60 cents for 80 tablets, and if they don't put five pounds of flesh on any thin person in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for it.

"But be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine."

winning hearts and plaudits with his inimitable athletic prowess.

This new film, "Don Q, Son of Zorro," is by no means a screen version of the Cervantes classic, "Don Quixote," as some have thought, but has been adapted by Jack Cunningham from the novel, "Don Q's Love Story," by K. and Hesketh Richard.

Don Q, the son of Zorro, is sent from California to Spain to complete his education. There he wins high favor at the Spanish court, only to be accused of murder. To escape disgrace he pretends suicide and becomes an outlaw. Of course, there is a most romantic love story, and Don Q's quest for the heart and hand of a beautiful senorita eventually meets with success though beset by many tribulations.

Never in all Fairbanks' career, it is said by critics everywhere, did he have a photoplay vehicle that gave him such splendid opportunities for athletic stunts—the type of film portrayal which brought him his earlier successes, and in "Don Q, Son of Zorro," there are feats of nimbleness and daring that are said to be far in excess of anything the redoubtable "Doug" has ever produced.

One of the unusual things in this new Fairbanks release is the exceptional skill shown by the star in manipulating the menacing and snake-like bull-whip. This weapon—for such it really is—is a very long, very slender and very sinuous lash, fastened to a short butt-like handle, and tapering from an inch or so in thickness to little more than a small cord in its 50 or 60 feet of length. It was used by cattlemen in the early ranch days of Southern California.

Embroidery from Russia is being extensively used on women's spring coats in France and England.

Says He Was Made Over

"Last summer I began to break down," says J. B. Jones, Box 64, Chester, W. Va. "What I could eat didn't seem to furnish any nourishment. I had to be very careful to avoid indigestion, and my sleep was broken and not restful. One doctor said I had stomach ulcers; another declared my liver was torpid. But their prescriptions didn't help any, and I grew worse until I was too miserable to care.

Friend Helped Him

"One day a friend of mine told me about World's Tonic. I thought I'd try it. After I had taken the first dose I passed an ugly tape worm six yards long. No wonder, I thought. From that day on I steadily got better, until now I feel like I had been made over. One after another my troubles cleared up. Today I am as healthy as I ever was, and I owe it all to this wonderful medicine."

Scores of people right in this town have told similar experiences. Many thousands all over this country declare this remarkable medicine to be a wonder worker. Maybe it is just what you need.

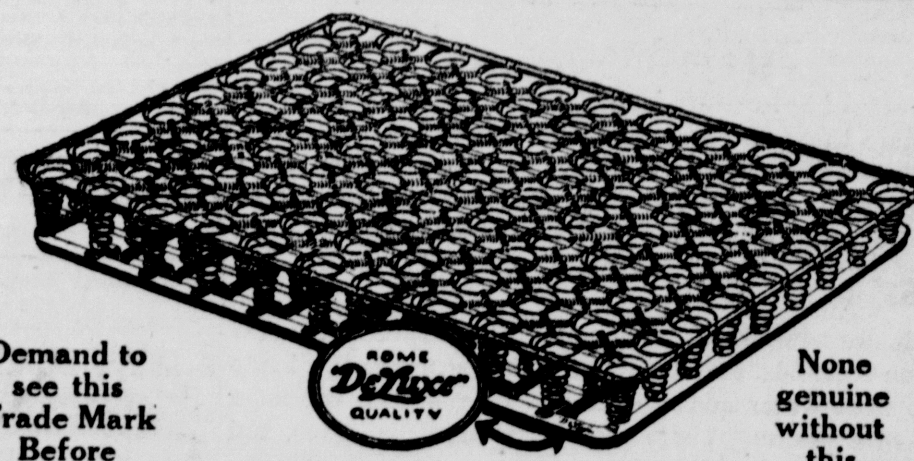

Get it at Carnahan's, Brannum & Wellsville, and all other reliable druggists.

Death of Charles E. Hamilton

State and county today join with his widow in mourning the passing of Charles E. Hamilton, of Lisbon, auditor of Columbiana county, who died last night in Salem Clinic hospital after a long illness of complication of diseases.

A man whose ability, both as a public official and business executive, was recognized, he endeared himself to a large coterie of acquaintances by his unassuming disposition. For years he sacrificed his own interests for the advancement of his friends, and did it cheerfully and willingly.

Few men devoted as much of their leisure time to the welfare of their political party as did Mr. Hamilton. A lifelong Republican, he was an indefatigable worker whether he was in the ranks or at the helm. At his death he was chairman of the Columbiana county executive committee and a member of the state central committee. His advice and counsel were in demand in county, state and national campaigns, and he never hesitated when his services were sought.

As county auditor, in which office he was serving his second term, he performed his duties with honor to himself and his constituency. And he brought into the office a business experience that had crowned his private interests with success.

Columbiana county has lost an able public official and the Republican party one of its most zealous supporters in the death of Auditor Hamilton.

Wisdom Instead of Diamonds

Mississippi almost had a "diamond rush." It was rumored recently that diamonds had been found in that state and that there were a lot more still to be found. It might have produced as much excitement as the current Canadian gold rush. But it didn't.

In the first place, the newspapers of the state refused to get excited about the announced discovery. They expressed themselves as capable of great pleasure if the rumor proved to be well-founded, but they saw no reason for a premature boom and waited pleasantly to be shown the diamonds.

Now there is still a great deal of talk of diamonds, although the excitement has blown over. The "discoverer" shows no signs of any further interest in his search. But the talk is mostly philosophical. One speaker is typical of many.

"If it should turn out that there are no diamond mines in Pike county, the people can truly say that they have something 'just as good.' Not only have they plenty to eat, good homes, good churches, but they have what the Bible declares better than much fine gold."

The commodity referred to is wisdom. It is better than gold and diamonds together.

Bees In Swamps

A novel form of bee-culture is carried on in De Soto parish in Louisiana where there are swamps full of honey plants from March to September. Formerly it was considered hopeless to try to raise bees there because the swamps could be penetrated only by boats and there was often danger of floods and overflow. Then the extension department of the state university tackled the problem.

Bee yards are now placed along numerous bayous out in the swamps, set on scaffolds, and cared for by keepers who use boats drawing very little water and capable of entering even the most remote parts of a swamp. There are now about 8,000 hives, and the practice is growing.

Draining swamps to put them under cultivation is often a lengthy and expensive task. Sometimes, too, it is found that their soil is not really suitable for general farming after it has been reclaimed. This bee-culture plan is therefore doubly interesting, increasing the production of honey and utilizing otherwise unproductive areas.

The League Row

The present session of the league of nations council at Geneva is not very edifying. But it is instructive.

Members scrap about admitting new members, and play politics and jockey for position. Bitter rivalries develop. There is more dissension, open and covert, than has appeared at any previous session. The spirit shown is far beneath the spirit of Locarno, which brought new hope to the nations last fall.

From this very bickering and struggling emerges a fact that cannot be overlooked. The nations, big and little, would not be scrapping thus for advantage in the league if it were a mere debating society. When nations contend, they contend for power. They evidently want strategic positions in the league because they see power there.

The future of the league depends on how that power is used, whether for selfish or unselfish purposes.

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of a new, low-bodied, stream-line car painted blue and yellow.

"Another trouble about cranks is that they're invariably self-starters," remarks the Arkansas Gazette, omitting to mention also that they have no brakes.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 15.—Diary of a modern Pepsy: Up and to the Hotel des Artistes to breakfast with Verne Porter, Luther Reed and Joe Urban and then roamed about Central Park paths in a meditative mood.

Home and received word a magazine had lost my manuscript and having destroyed my copy I told them in brave heat I would not write another nor shall I. My wife to a matinee with Will Hogg and Irvin Cobb and I to labor.

In the evening to the dinner John Monk Saunders, the tale writer, there, and his wife, Rupert Hughes' daughter Avis. Also Earl Carroll and Miss Dorothy Knapp, who is advertised as "the most beautiful girl in the world." All gay and home later than usual to bed.

Oxford College has done well by American literature. Three Rhodes scholars have made a decided imprint in the world of letters lately—Elmer Davis, John Monk Saunders and Christopher Morley. Davis has had four unusually successful novels—two being best sellers—in the past three years. Saunders had the fortune or misfortune to sell the first short story he ever wrote to a high class magazine. He had the usual luck of those who start so auspiciously. For two years he did not sell a thing he wrote. He went back to doorbell-pulling reporter job on Park Row and kept up his literary efforts for magazines on the side. In a year he was selling everything he wrote, quit his newspaper job and has arrived. I know four distinct cases, whose writers have leaped over the hurdle with their first magazine story and then came a cropper for many agonizing months. On the other hand there is a writer who has sold everything he ever wrote and his efforts included two plays.

My first magazine sale was to a poultry monthly in Kansas City, about 14 years ago. I was offered my choice—a check for $1.50 or a year's subscription to the journal. I took the cash, demonstrating sharp business acumen for with two more issues the venture turned its toes to the daisies.

Every Manhattan cliff dweller decides at some time or other to raise chickens on a two or three-acre patch. On paper the incubator system shows bewildering profits. It seems so simple—three dozen eggs and an incubator and there you are, but pip, cholera or something interferes and the chickens raisers come back to their cliffs.

At one of those rare lucid intervals that come my way I became imbued with a business idea in New York that seemed cataclysmic. With a light heart I hawked it in busy marts. The chief difficulty, it appears, was that it had been successfully done by some five or six hundred before me. I still think it was a good idea.

In all those disillusioning and disappointing days I met with only one discourteous rebuff. He was a man eternally "in conference" who fidgeted with push buttons, telephones and dictation while I sat patiently holding my derby and swallowing my Adam's apple. He was plain nasty in his interview and I'd like to report dropping a dime in his hat for a set of shoe laces later along a Fifth Avenue curb, but the exigencies of truth forgo that pleasure. He is said to be a $75,000 a year executive today.

Among all the others I interviewed I found unfailing kindness. As I look back I bordered on the sympathetic. They probably thought: "The poor boob actually believes in his rotten idea."

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A Fight or a Frolic.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15.—Washington is engrossed just now in discussing whether 1928 is to be a fight or a frolic for Calvin Coolidge. There are many, and they are not all friends of the president, who predict that he will romp in as a candidate for re-nomination and re-election, and romping in as a winner is generally classed as a frolic.

There are others who contend that any president who undertakes to hold that office more than eight years is letting himself in for the stiffest kind of a fight, and some who adhere to this view are numbered among Coolidge well-wishers. Of course Mr. Coolidge will not have served eight years at the end of his present term, but it is pointed out that if he wins another term he will break all records for longevity in the White House and shatter to smithereens one of the great precedents of American politics.

This discussion was precipitated by the pronouncement of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, upon his return from his extensive hunting trip in Asia, that he was ready for either a fight or a frolic. Being his father's son it is to be assumed that he would greatly prefer a fight. This is indicated further by his supplementary declaration that whatever decision he may reach as to his plans for the immediate future he expects to devote his life to politics and public affairs.

No man of the Roosevelt temperament and heritage can devote a lifetime to politics and public affairs without kicking up more or less of a ruckus once in a while and being a candidate for office.

Accordingly it is assumed that Teddy Jr. is, for all practical purposes, already in the race again for the governorship of New York and that he is potentially a candidate for presidential honors in 1928. If this assumption be correct it is certain that it is a fight rather than a frolic that is in prospect.

The Ovis Poli Enters the Arena. Col. Roosevelt had a very successful hunting trip, returning with a large bag of specimens for the Field Museum of Chicago. Included in the collection were some 80 large mammals and between 800 and 1,000 small mammals, birds and reptiles. The most notable achievement was bagging a specimen of the ovis poli or Marco Polo sheep, one of the rarest animals known to scientists and hunters, and said to be a distant relative of the Rocky Mountain goat of North America.

This has prompted irreverent and slangy wisecracks to ask, "If Teddy could get Marco Polo's sheep, can he get Cal's goat?" His friends answer with the counter question, "And why not?"

Such ardent admirers of young Roosevelt never weary of pointing out how closely his career has paralleled that of his distinguished father. He has served in the legislature of his state; so did his father. He has served his country in time of war and emerged with a good fighting record and the title of colonel, as did his father. He has been assistant secretary of the navy; so was his father. He has proved himself a mighty hunter and sportsman; as was his father. It remains for him but to be governor, vice president, and president to complete the parallel and his friends are entirely willing to forego the vice presidency. Probably the colonel, is, too.

However, political observers call attention to the fact that Roosevelt made a try at the governorship two years ago and failed to manage it. A canny individual named Al Smith stepped in between him and the coveted prize, and it is by no means certain that that same individual will not be in the gubernatorial lists again this year. Smith has been governor of New York three or four times, and while it is not contended that he has a lease in perpetuity on the job it is recognized that when he wants it he makes it rough going for other aspirants. Smith likewise has his dreams of the presidency in 1928 and he may also regard election as governor in 1923 as a necessary stepping stone.

Then, too, it may be pointed out that before Roosevelt can be governor he must get the Republican nomination there, although as a matter of precedent he is entitled to the nomination if he indicates that he wants it.

And Along Comes Borah.

But there are other factors than Col. Roosevelt that enter into the question of whether President Coolidge is to have a fight or a frolic two years hence. One of them is Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. A fairly well defined movement is under way to make him a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination on the issue of opposition to the participation by the United States in the World Court.

Whatever else may be said of him, everybody concedes that Borah never frolics, and if he sanctions the movement in his behalf it may be regarded as settled now that there will be a fight. As to how formidable a fight the Idaho statesman can put up, there will be debate.

In the first place, the senator is handicapped geographically as a White House aspirant. No candidate for president has ever been chosen from a state so far west, or one that cuts so little figure in the electoral college, as Idaho. Usually they are taken from pivotal states—the ones upon which the result of the national election may well turn.

Borah adherents make answer to this by saying that while Idaho may not be a pivotal state, the senator is a pivotal figure in American politics by reason of his leadership of the fight to keep this country free of any and all European entanglements and that the issue at the polls in 1928 may well turn on the contest the is making along that line. They also stress his long and notable career in the senate, his ability as a debater and campaigner, his intense devotion to the constitution, his fearless independence in matters which in his judgment transcend partisanship in importance.

This independence, by the way, does not recommend Senator Borah to his fellow Republicans who believe in strict party loyalty and regularity, and politically it may prove to be more of a liability than an asset. And,

too, it has made him rather a lonely character in the senate, tending to prevent the cementing into strong personal ties his association with the leaders who are powerful forces in his party.

Another interesting phase of current discussion anent 1928 is the choice bit of gossip that President Coolidge has let it be known that if he is not to be the Republican nominee two years hence, Herbert C. Hoover, Secretary of the Department of Commerce, will be the administration candidate.

This recalls the situation in 1908 when party chieftains who did not look with favor upon the candidacy of William Howard Taft were given the alternative by the then President Roosevelt, "You can take Taft, or you can take me."

They took Taft. And in the campaign for the election that year, it is remembered, the Republicans had a frolic rather than a fight.

Only a few more weeks until it is safe to predict a hard winter.—Mansfield Journal.

125 Young Men Hear "Life Value" Address By H. D. Krafft

Harold D. Krafft, of the Standard Life Insurance company, and instructor of insurance, addressed university, Pittsburgh, addressed members of the Sunday afternoon club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday. His subject was "Life Values."

Approximately 125 young men, between the ages of 16 and 26, attended the meeting. The speaker said:

"The greatest thing that the youth of today need worry about is not early death but old age dependency. Out of an average group of 100 young men, 36 will have died before reaching the age of 65; 54 will be dependent upon relatives, five self-supporting, four well to do and one wealthy. Life value is ability or what we can do with our lives, based upon the principles of industry, ability, earning power and character."

112 PERSONS INDICTED IN RUM RING QUIZ

Uncle Sam Strikes
Blow at Dry Law
Violators.

165 OVERT ACTS

Federal Grand Jury
Counts Hit Persons
in 11 Cities.

CLEVELAND, O., March 15.—Harry Volpe, of Chicago, named in the record indictment returned by a federal grand jury here this afternoon, charging a huge liquor conspiracy, was the first to be arraigned in federal court after the true bill was released.
Volpe entered a plea of guilty and was set at liberty on a $10,000 bond pending sentence.

CLEVELAND, March 15.—The United States government this afternoon struck its heaviest blow in history at violators of the national prohibition act. The blow reverberated from coast to coast.
The federal grand jury after weeks of investigation into the activities of an alleged huge rum syndicate, nationwide in its scope, returned a blanket indictment charging 112 persons in 11 cities from Massachusetts to California, with a vast conspiracy to break the dry law.

"It is an expose of the operations of what we believe to be the biggest rum ring unearthed since the adoption of the Volstead amendment," said United States District Attorney A. E. Bernstein, who had charge of the probe.

The true bill, characterized by District Attorney Bernstein as the largest ever returned in a federal court, covered 103 closely typed pages, contained 26,000 words and alleged 165 overt acts.

Alcohol Sold To Bootleggers.

An amazing story of how through the cooperation of the Superior Industrial Alcohol company, the Prospect Refining and Chemical company and the Central Refining company, all of Cleveland, 75 carloads of 5,000 gallons each of pure alcohol, were obtained tax free, under government license, to be denatured for commercial purposes, and how the entire amount was sold to bootleggers to be retailed by them all over the country for drinking purposes, was alleged in the true bill.

The government charged that government officials and employees were bribed or hired outright in the carrying out of the big plot.

The indictment specifically charged millions, attorneys, deputy United States internal revenue collectors, railroad special agents and employees, warehousemen, truck drivers, garage-men, business men and others in Philadelphia, Cleveland, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Boston, San Francisco and San Jose, Cal., with being involved in the conspiracy.

Treasury Agents Get Evidence.

The evidence on which the federal grand jury brought the indictment was gathered over a period of six months by agents of the intelligence unit of the United States treasury department, under the direction of George E. Golding, Atlanta, Ga., assisted by Eugene R. O'Brien, New York, Wilfred Moore and George Foster. This was the first time in history that the intelligence unit of the treasury department was assigned to gather evidence in a liquor law violation case.

Federal agents followed the alcohol trail from coast to coast as it led from distilleries in Louisville, Ky., Peoria, Ill., and Waterloo, Iowa, to Cleveland, and out again to scores of cities, including New York, Buffalo, Omaha and Atlantic City.

Enormous profits were made by the ring leaders, according to the agents, who alleged that the pure alcohol purchased at an average price of 50 cents a gallon was sold to the bootlegger wholesalers at $3 to $4 a gallon. The bootleggers split each gallon into 20 gallons of synthetic gin and sold it at $10 to $25 a gallon.

Ring Received Millions.
While the indictment charged that only 75 carloads of 5,000 gallons of pure alcohol were diverted and sold

NEARLY 253 ARE REPORTED KILLED OR INJURED IN COSTA RICA WRECK

Excursion Train Derailed
as it Crosses Bridge,
Plunges Down Embankment, Dispatch
Says.

NEW ORLEANS, March 15.—Nearly 200 persons were killed and scores injured, the majority seriously, when three cars of a Costa Rica excursion train became detached while the train was crossing the Larilla river Sunday and plunged down a steep embankment.

Details of the accident were received in New Orleans today by wireless at the offices of the United Fruit company, owner of the railroad.

A special train was rushed to the scene of the accident from Port Limon by the United Fruit company. On board were a special corps of physicians and nurses and medical supplies.

The direct cause of the accident has not been learned. The coaches containing the victims bumped and hurtled down the 50-foot embankment of the Larilla river, a mass of smashed and tangled debris. The known dead number 178 and 75 others are known to be injured. Many of the latter are expected to die. That any of the occupants of the cars escaped death is regarded as miraculous. There were about a dozen other coaches in the train, the total number of passengers aboard being about 1,000.

Special investigation by the government of the accident will be ordered, it is said.

Word of the accident was flashed to the New Orleans office of the United Fruit company from San Jose, Costa Rica. It was believed at first 300 persons were killed, and several hundred injured, but a check showed this number to be exaggerated.

All Sunday activities in Costa Rica were ordered suspended by the government as a sign of mourning.

AUTO DRIVER GOES TO JAIL

J. O. Kennedy Given
60-day Term as Result
of Crash.

First victim in the Columbiana county campaign against reckless driving is James O. Kennedy, 25, Mulberry street, who was arrested near the Rock Camp crossing on the Lincoln highway at 6 o'clock last night after he is alleged to have crashed into an automobile owned and driven by E. A. Birkhimer, 1220 Erie street.

Pleading guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor, when arraigned before Mayor Robert E. Clark, Lisbon, Kennedy was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail.

Birkhimer, accompanied by his family, was traveling south on the Lincoln highway, last evening, when he was met head-on by Kennedy. Birkhimer's car went over one side of the road while Kennedy's machine plunged over the opposite embankment. No one was injured.

Sheriff George Wright was notified of the accident and accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Kindsavatter, went to investigate.

for beverage purposes, Chief Operative Golding asserted he found records showing that during the period of 18 months covered by the probe, the alleged syndicate withdrew 83 carloads of alcohol from the Peoria warehouse, 50 from Waterloo, 75 from Louisville and 20 from the Weidman distillery, a total of 228 carloads of alcohol, or 1,140,000 gallons, for which was paid about $575,000. If this liquor was sold at $3 a gallon to wholesale bootleggers the ring received nearly $4,000,000, according to Golding. The retail bootleggers eventually sold this liquor after it was diluted for nearly $500,000,000, government agents estimated.

The true bill named 51 persons in Minneapolis and St. Paul, 21 in Cleveland, 15 in Duluth, 10 in Philadelphia, six in Chicago, four in San Francisco and San Jose, three in Pittsburgh and one each in Detroit and Boston.

Nesbitt Arraigned

Nesbitt was escorted from his cell to the juvenile quarters by a jail guard. Eyes of all prisoners were turned upon him as he walked steadily down the corridor with eyes staring straight ahead. He spoke a cheery "good morning" to court officials and nodded to the newspaper men.

He sat near his counsel while the affidavit was being read.

Following arraignment Nesbitt attempted to speak to newspaper men, but was forbidden by Shipman. After a short conference the two retired to Nesbitt's cell where they remained for 15 minutes. Shipman refused to make a statement when he left the jail.

Nesbitt asked reporters to meet him in juvenile quarters at 1 o'clock, Central Standard time, and said he had a statement he wanted to make. Shipman advised strongly against the meeting but Nesbitt insisted. It was considered doubtful, however, whether Nesbitt will make the statement over the advice of counsel.

Shipman advised the court that he would not at this time request a lunacy commission to determine Nesbitt's mental capacity, but told reporters that such a committee would probably be asked for.

Nesbitt seemed to be bearing up well under the strain and appeared in the jail court room neatly attired and freshly shaved.

Sympathy With Slayer.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drake, parents of Francis Drake Nesbitt, the murdered woman, will likely come to the defense of the man who admitted he murdered their daughter. They continue their insistence that he could never have committed the crime had he been in his right mind.

Sympathy in the town is almost entirely with Nesbitt.

Since his confession that he murdered his wife because she "nagged" him about his earning ability friends and neighbors have come forward with statements that they recall several every American is indebted to Mr. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, a great business man and financier, who devotes time and energy to the public service, for no reward and very little gratitude. Last year the public debt was reduced more than $700,000,000. This year it will be reduced by about $700,000,000 more. At any rate the great war, our share of it, will soon be paid for.

WHEN you think that women are settling down to sensible fashions, short skirts, and short hair, this comes to you: Madam Lanvin, who ought to know, says that skirts will be short in front, long in the back, hats very big or very small, nothing in between. The dresses will be "very short in front, shorter than ever, and very long in the back."

The Hair Dressers' association say women have decided that bobbed hair isn't beautiful and are going back to long hair, letting their bobs grow, and buying wigs.

There is some wise plan of Providence back of all that you may be sure.

LONDON zoo is able to buy a genuine white elephant in Burmah, after promising that no disgraceful labor would be inflicted upon the sacred beast. Five keepers and an elephant warden of the ordinary color will accompany the sacred white elephant to London.

It would be a good thing if all elephants in circuses and elsewhere were spared humiliating tasks now forced upon them, standing on their heads, walking on ninespins, etc. The elephant is too dignified a beast for such humiliation. And children want to see an elephant, not a four-legged, unwieldy clown.

THE FRENCH people do not like taxation. Brand's government tried to keep national accounts straight by levying a sales tax. The proposition was overwhelmingly defeated. The deputies deserted Brand on a vote of confidence and he is out of office. Here, in England, and in Germany, men submit to taxation quite peacefully. The Latin race is more rebellious.

C., before he went abroad to study. He made his debut at Frankfurt, and was immediately engaged for the Royal Carl Rosa company of London. He created the leading baritone roles in many of the Wagnerian operas when first produced in English. Lind has varied his repertoire for vaudeville with such clever vehicles as "The Opera Singer," "A Man of Yesterday," and the "Singing Master" and with his charming wife, Adah Carry Lind, known as "The Lady of the Violin," has become established as one of the standard Keith attractions.

TEACHERS' MEET
IS HELD HERE

More Than 200 Attend
Annual Session in
High School.

More than 200 men and women interested in educational work in this county attended the annual meeting of the Columbiana County Teachers' association held in the auditorium of the David Anderson high school Saturday. More interest in this gathering was displayed this year than heretofore, according to County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Leonard.

The attendance at the annual gathering of members of township boards of education was larger than that of a year ago.

G. H. Alderman, dean of education, University of Pittsburgh, with Rev. W. J. Campbell, pastor of Plymouth Congregational church, Youngstown, were the principal speakers at both morning and afternoon sessions.

The departmental sessions, which followed the addresses of these two speakers brought out many new plans which teachers have used in developing the minds of children along particular lines. These discussions had to do with the teaching in all grades, also in certain branches of high school work.

Supt. Leonard was in charge of the meeting of the members of the township boards of education. Mr. Leonard explained the need of boards of education to be in constant personal contact with the schools under their charge, and that it was necessary for all board members to take an active interest in educational work for the betterment of their different communities.

The session opened with a community sing. The invocation was pronounced by Rev. R. J. Bennett of the Lisbon Christian church. The music throughout the day was in charge of Miss Mary Albright, supervisor of music in the Lisbon schools.

MAN COMMITTED TO COUNTY JAIL.

Russell Bauman, charged with disturbing the peace by fighting, was fined $100 and costs when arraigned Saturday night before Justice of the Peace Zimmerman. He was committed to jail in default of payment.

Bauman was arrested by Sheriff Wright and Deputy Lawrence Kindsvater at Salem on complaint filed by J. O. Faloon of Kensington. The latter alleged that he had been attacked by Bauman after he left a dance hall from which place the defendant and several companions had been ejected earlier in the evening.

Macaulay, pastor of the Lisbon Presbyterian church, being in charge. Burial was made in Lisbon cemetery.

Mrs. Eells resided in Lisbon about 20 years ago, removing from Lisbon to Cleveland.

REV. O. J. HARVLI
INSTALLED HERE

Rev. O. J. Harvli was installed as pastor of the First Reformed church at a special service held at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening, in charge of Rev. R. W. Blemker, of the First Reformed church, Canton.

Damage to the building was slight, the major loss being on a stock of new tires and tubes stored in the basement.

Case Appealed.
A jury was waived in the case of Frank Lucas against Pauline Leads, wherein a judgment for $2,000 was sought, and the case was tried to the court. There has been a finding for the plaintiff for the full amount of the claim. A motion for a new trial has been overruled, and after exceptions had been filed with Judge Wolf, an appeal bond was set at $5,000.

Ottie Casto, residing at Ripley, W. Va., and Miss Pauline Mays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Mays of East Liverpool, have obtained a marriage license and were married by Rev. J. M. Cameron at the parsonage of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church.

Report Approved.
The first report of the receivers has been filed and approved in common pleas court in the case of Harry Potts and others against the St. Clair Township Mutual Insurance company. After this report was confirmed, the court ordered the receivers to collect outstanding claims due the company through the usual avenues of the court.

Denied Trial Motion.
Judge Glenn of Coshocton, who recently heard the case of R. J. Shepherd against E. W. Gessford, has overruled a motion for a new trial in this action. The court has noted the exceptions filed by the defendant in this case, but whether or not it will be taken to the court of appeals has not been determined by counsel in the case.

"Eaco Protection"
Keeps His COFFIELD Paid For

Mrs. Smith Does Not Have to Neglect
Him for the Family Wash---The
Coffield Does the Wash

"EACO PROTECTION" is given with every COFFIELD, "The World's Best Electric Washer," sold on the COFFIELD'S easy monthly payment plan. When you buy a COFFIELD on payments you don't need to fear the proverbial "rainy day," or save up to be able to continue your payments should it come. "Eaco Protection" will do that for you in the event you are laid up for more than two weeks with sickness or injury by accident, and the payments for these first two weeks are then also included, the protection being retroactive. In the event of death by accident all payments are cancelled entirely, and the heir or heirs are given a receipt in full.

But "Eaco Protection" is not more unparalleled in its way than the COFFIELD itself---the finest and most perfect electric washer in the world.

Coffield
$139<sup>50</sup>
The Wash-day
Miracle

THE experience of Mrs. Smith truly justifies this seemingly extravagant expression. There is any number of Mrs. Smiths who will have cause to praise both the COFFIELD and "EACO PROTECTION."

There is no "wash day" in the parlance of the COFFIELD. It is simply a "wash hour." That's the time you save by letting the COFFIELD do the family wash.

The Goddard Bakery

Home of the popular "Betsy Ross" bread at Virginia avenue, Chester, West Virginia, one of the most widely known concerns not only because they maintain a modern scientifically equipped plant which is under experienced and expert management, but also because the fame of their bread and other products has spread far and wide to every point of the compass and are exceedingly popular here. Of course, everyone knows them and their excellent service in this connection.

When the people who handle important articles of food and the place in which they are handled are as described above, it is safe to wager that what they have to offer their customers is the best that money can buy.

This is the kind of plant operated by the Goddard Bakery, producers of "Betsy Ross" bread, in such great demand in Columbiana county and surrounding community, and the kind that they have been operating since they first opened their doors for business.

This bakery does an extensive business. So great has been the care in the effort to give the people the most wholesome food that their hosts of customers have learned to refuse goods from other establishments, because they have confidence in their products.

Their bread is always crisp and fresh. It supplies strength and energy and is protected by sanitary conditions. Bread is your best food, eat more of it.

In the great experiences of life there are none that which recall more pleasant memories than the days of youth, when the boy or girl gets in mother's bread box just after the bake. Times have changed and many today do not get to experience this joy of life unless they patronize an institution of this kind which is often the nearest approach to the old family bread box in these days of the complexity of civilization.

You cannot buy better bread than "Betsy Ross," not only is it properly made from the proper ingredients which are carefully selected but is thoroughly and properly baked.

Therefore it has that delicious flavor and substance

which all good bread should have, but which is quite rare in the modern loaf of today.

It is well to insist on "Betsy Ross" bread. Those who have never tried the products from this bakery are missing one of the accompaniments of the perfect meal as hosts of people are praising the work of this bakery and are demanding their excellent line of pure food products.

The standard of this institution is the best grade flour, pure shortening, sugar, salt and other ingredients, mixed and baked under clean, sanitary conditions by skilled workmen.

As a consequence they find the business of the institution spreading far and wide over this section of the state and in this review of our progress we are glad to give commendable mention to their activities and to predict for the place even greater expansion in the future.

The management has been closely allied with the large business interests of this section of the state for some time and has been instrumental in the upbuilding of this section of the country and the institution should receive the patronage of the entire people.

Q. From what is the term "rayon" derived? K. L.

A. The term "rayon," as a generic name to be applied to all artificial silks, has recently come into quite general use, having been endorsed by many trade associations, and being applied by different producers to their products. The word is French, one of its meanings being a ray, as of light, and the thought in the minds of certain of those who sponsored it was that, being a term unknown to most of the English speaking public, it would permit of no confusion in its use. It was believed that it could not be mistaken for anything else, and would still be applicable to the product as expressing its outstanding characteristic of lustre.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once. Rub Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, does the work without blister. Rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

Better than a mustard plaster

EVE'S TWO LOVERS

EDGAR POE NORRIS

TWENTY-ONE.

"Thank you for the awfully good game," the woman called cheerily. There was a sort of challenge in them that made him regard her furtively as she mopped his brow. Lord how she could play tennis! . . . That was the kind of a wife to have. He wondered if the golf she was with was her husband. He played as badly as Eve. He sensed her searching glance upon him. It seemed that there was a bond between them. They both had rotten tennis partners and were trying to console with each other. That was what was in their glances. He saw her speak to her companion, and in a moment the latter came toward them. "Would you join us for refreshments?"

"My name is White," he introduced himself to Clay. "Mine's Wales. . . This is my wife," he indicated. "I didn't know the prince was married," remarked the man, smiling. Clay did not smile, but Eve did. The other woman came up too late to hear this. "Miss Johnstone," Mr. White announced. "Mr. and Mrs. Wales—not the prince."

Miss Johnstone did not smile. Her eyes were upon Clay's searchingly. His glance dropped. Clay Wales was warm and weary, but he also was buoyant. Acres of green dotted with checkered golf players floated about the shady veranda on which he sat with Eve and their new found acquaintances, sipping lemonades. Pretty women in colorful sports clothes were sunning themselves, or listening attentively to bosome men, or smiling at interesting ones. Music and the shuffle of teardancers floated out upon the balmy air. . . This was life. If only he could enjoy this all of the time. What was there in store for him in Central City but the warehouse of John Ingate's Sons, Inc.? So much more did Chicago offer. . .

He looked up and found his glance met by that of Miss Johnstone. It was, he thought such aquilzical, challenging expression. Why did she look at him like that? Was she trying to flirt with him? His eyes dropped. White, he noticed, seemed very much interested in what Eve had to say, whatever it was. . .

" . . . Yes," he heard her say, "I agree with you about Arlen. He's Laura Jean Libbey in purple covers." He was puzzled. Who was Arlen? Who was Laura Jean Libbey? What did she mean by that? Clay had never read anything except sport pages since he left school.

He wanted to talk to Miss Johnstone, to have her interested in what he said. But what could he say? He pondered the matter for a moment. Then he spoke without meeting her eyes: "You play tennis awfully well."

"Thank you. The compliment is one I must return. I thought your playing in the last set was stunning."

"But nothing I did compared with your one last shot."

"Oh that was just luck. I nearly fainted when I saw that I had made it. I was so surprised at myself."

There was something irresistible about her eyes. Clay couldn't help meeting them. He didn't remember ever seeing a girl with violet eyes before. He tried to think of something else to say. He remembered noticing some advertisements of a book which told you how to be interesting always in conversation, and amaze those you met with your knowledge. He would have to get that book, he decided.

"Do you play here every day?" she asked. Eve heard and raised her eyes. Clay realized that his wife was listening when he replied: "Not every day."

"Perhaps we can have other games," said Miss Johnstone. The violet eyes turned softly to meet Mrs. Wales' glance with a smile.

"Yes," Clay answered, indefinitely. Miss Johnstone arose. "I think we'd better ask Mr. and Mrs. Wales to pardon us now Reggie. It's nearly six."

"Yes, yes. You will pardon us please? Enjoyed the game so much." Clay liked White even less now. There seemed something effeminate about him. What did Miss Johnstone, a bronzed athletic type, see in such a man?

Clay, standing courteously, watched the pair disappear inside the clubhouse.

"Quite striking isn't she?" Eve said softly, with a suggestiveness that was not lost upon her husband. He shook his head. "Too tall."

But the opinion was not quite convincing to Eve. She smiled at him skeptically. "I've always heard that violet eyes reduced men at a glance."

Clay ignored her point. "Whew, I'm melted. I think I'll take a shower; I guess I can get in. How about you?"

"Yes, I need it. My face is dirty, isn't it?"

"I should say so. And your nose is red."

"Say not so! Say not so! Wouldst break a woman's heart?" She was in a merry mood.

They parted at the stairs inside, going in opposite directions into the basement. Clay ran into Reggie White in the shower-room. "Great after a game, eh what?" said the latter.

"Nothing better."

White had begun his dressing when Clay came out, glistening and dripping. "Coming out tomorrow?"

"I don't know."

"Thought we might have another game. Ripping today."

Clay got the idea that White's tone and phrasology were affected. "Ripping." Huh!

"If we come out, we'll be on the courts," Clay suggested.

"Look you up, righto." White was putting on dinner clothes and dancing pumps. Evidently he kept a wardrobe of apparel in his locker. Clay felt uncomfortable in his own sack suit, none too well pressed.

"I say, have a drink to get the old appetite biting?"

Clay wasn't sure he heard the other man correctly, and regarded him blankly.

"I say, would you join me in a drink, something to stir up the appetite?"

"Mrs. Wales will be waiting me."

"The wife, too."

"Yes, thanks." Why should White

be so affable? And Miss Johnstone, too? He and Eve were strangers, and plainly not of the other's social station, or least they must look as if they were not.

When he was done with his dressing and feeling rather doubtful and conspicuous, since most of the other men he saw were in dinner clothes, too, they mounted to the lobby. Eve did not appear.

"I'd better not keep you," Clay said. "She no doubt is delayed."

"Well, let's run up and get one before she comes. Then—"

"I should say so. And your nose is red."

They mounted to the third floor in the elevator and paused before a door. White rapped. "You Reggie?" came a voice.

"And Wales," was the response, made precisely.

The door opened, revealing Miss Johnstone in a long dressing-gown of purple which hung loosely about her. In her hand was a lighted cigaret.

"Ready for a cocktail?" White asked.

"Yes," she replied, as if non-committal. Her eyes were upon Clay Wales.

White opened the drawer of a cabinet and brought two bottles. "The deuce! No vermouth. . . Excuse me a moment, please." He disappeared through the outer door, softly whistling to himself, and Clay and the girl with the violet eyes were left alone.

MARKETS LEAD IN TITLE SERIES

COLUMBIANA, March 15.—In a clean, hard fought battle, the Central Market basketball team defeated the Hawkins Aces, 37-33, in the first game of the Columbian city championship series.

The former Miller Bros. team was handicapped by only having five men in uniform and three of these were former substitutes. Price, Howe and Robinson. However, these three played remarkably well considering the fact that they have had very few chances to display their prowess in regular games. Hawkins and Thomas, naturally, did most of the scoring, the former making five baskets and the latter six and also four foul shots.

The Central Markets started out like a whirlwind, leading 14-2 at the end of the first quarter. The Hawkins squad seemed lost on the floor without their regular team mates. However, they braced up and held their opponents even in the next two quarters, while during the fourth quarter they made twelve points to the Central Markets' six.

Five Civil Cases Are Filed Today In City Court

The Smith Brothers Coal company filed a suit for $21.40 against Nelson Eichenbush of Allison street. William S. Foukis in behalf of the American Legion home trustees asked the ejectment of Alfred Scraggs, restaurant proprietor, from a store room in the Legion building, 633 Dresden avenue.

The Keystone Food Specialties filed an action for $114.60 against Edward B. Mullen, former local soft drink establishment owner.

Miss Bennett Will Direct Mt. Union Campaign in City

Under the leadership of Miss Lydia Bennett, local alumni and former students of Mt. Union college, Alliance, are being organized to participate in a nationwide campaign for a $2,000,000 endowment and building fund, which will be launched during the month of April.

One hundred and fifty cities and towns will be organized for the canvass. The $2,000,000 fund will be in the nature of a gift to celebrate the 80th birthday of the college this year. New buildings are to be erected at the college and the endowment fund increased. The enrollment during the last 15 years has increased 300 per cent, which necessitates additional buildings.

M. E. Sextet Wins. M. E. girls' team recently defeated the Glenmore sextet, 18 to 12. McConnell, Howard and Davidson starred for the winners.

These two teams are slated to meet again in the preliminary to the Powers-Muskingum contest here April 1.

Wooster Checks Up On Lost Fouls

Lack of Accuracy Costs Boles' Five at Least Three Games.

WOOSTER, March 13.—Inability to score from the free throw line cost the Wooster College basketball team dearly in the season just closed. Three of the four games, which were lost by a total of six points, were lost because Wooster players could not throw foul goals as accurately as did the opposition.

In these four games Wooster attempted 49 free throws and made 24. Wooster's opponents made good 29 out of 42.

For the season, including all the Ohio Conference games and those played with B. A. A. teams, Wooster made 220 field goals while opponents got 197. Blough, sophomore forward led the scoring with 70 field goals and 31 free throws. Captain Pfeiffer scored 59 field and 23 free throws.

Strangely, both Wooster and the opposition attempted the same number of free throws, 155. Wooster fell down slightly by making 75 to 80 for the opponents.

Wooster's 1925 basketball season resulted in victories over Denison, Case, Ohio Northern, Heidelberg, Reserve, Baldwin Wallace and Wittenberg. Games were lost to Denison, Ohio Wesleyan, Otterbein, Oberlin, Case and two to Mount Union.

This was Wooster's eleventh basketball season under Coach L. C. Boles. In that time Wooster has won 83 and lost 74 games.

Shubert's 'Student Prince' Last Word In Grandeur

Male Chorus of 60 Carried by Company Which Comes to Ceramic Theatre.

The Messrs. Shubert, who are sending "The Student Prince" to the Ceramic for an early engagement announce that this is the latest word in grandeur, magnificence, melody, charm and beauty. The story of "The Student Prince" was first used in dramatic form by Richard Mansfield who played it as "Old Heidelberg" at the Lyric theatre, New York, in 1905. Following the great success of "Blossom Time" Miss Donnelly turned her hand to "The Student Prince" and when the lyrics were finished, Messrs. Shubert commissioned Sigmund Romberg who wrote the melodies for "Blossom Time" to write the music for "The Student Prince." It is said that Romberg wrote 41 musical numbers before J.

J. Shubert accepted the play and cost it for rehearsal. Three years intervened between the time Miss Donnelly began her work and the first public presentation of "The Student Prince" at the Jolson theatre, New York, where the original company is now well along in its second season. At the Ambassador theatre. Four permanently located companies are now playing "The Student Prince," the first is in New York, the second in Chicago, the third and fourth are in Boston and Los Angeles. There is one company "playing the cities of the Pacific Coast, one in the south and the third touring company will be seen here. There is nothing to choose between any of them, the Shuberts say. Each is cast mounted and equipped as well as the other, each is the equal of the New York production in quality and size of cast, chorus and scenic investiture. There is a cast of 108, which includes a student male chorus of 60.

Parma, Italy, has dedicated to the fallen heroes of the World War, a statue consisting of three towers of marble, each capped by a cross.

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils. While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary. In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it. Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

When the CHILDREN cough

Give them PERTUSSIN at once. It will soothe the cough quickly, loosen the sticky, greenish phlegm that often clogs the air passages. It is absolutely harmless and free from "dope" (such as barbitone, chloroform, cannabine or other injurious drugs). Children like its taste, and it will not upset the digestion.

For over 20 years PERTUSSIN has been the most widely used remedy for whooping cough. It is good for any cough of any member of the family—and it lessens the severity of baby's cough.
